Police arrest six in Zebra slayings

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — In a massive early morning operation, police arrested six black men today and charged them with the multiple "Zebra" killings of white persons which have terrorized San Francisco for five months.

More than 100 heavily armed, and in some cases disguised, police officers gathered at the city's Hall of Justice before dawn and swept the suspects up in an operation lasting four hours.

Chief of Inspectors Charles Barca said more arrests were anticipated.

The suspects were identified by police as J. C. Simon, 29; Larry Green, 22; Dwight Stallings; Thomas Manney, 31; Edgar D. Burton, and Manuel Moore. Police said Manney had been an all-city football player in high school.

All were believed to live in San Francisco. All were arrested separately. Police would give no further details of the arrests.

All six were charged with murder, conspiracy to commit murder and other charges involved in the shootings.

Police refused to comment on reports that the suspects were connected with a black underground group which committed the killings in "initiation rites", as reported by a San Francisco television station Tuesday night. KRON-TV said the group was organized nationwide.

Barca said the operation began about 5 a.m. when the heavily armed army of officers gathered, then dispersed to make the arrests.

The "Zebra" killers are believed to have carried out 18 random shootings of white men and women on San Francisco streets since November. Twelve of the victims died.

Barca also refused to comment on whether another man, presumably an informer, was being held in protective custody. Mayor Joseph L. Alioto announced Monday he had met with an informant in a secret meeting early Saturday morning and that as a result of this meeting, "people could feel safer."

Alioto also said Monday police were seeking four suspects and hinted arrests were imminent.

The terror killings began last Nov. 25 when grocer Saleem Erakat was killed near the San Francisco Civic Center. Through the month of December there were seven more of the shootings in which a black assailant would approoach white men or women on the street and shoot them with a pistol without speaking.

After a month's break, the frightening killings resumed on the night of Jan. 28 when two black men cruising in a car killed four persons and wounded a fifth victim in a two-hour period.

Five more shooting incidents took place during April when two persons were killed. The last killing attributed to the "Zebra" murderers took place April 17.

Alioto said the San Francisco killings had been linked to 80 similar street murders throughout California in the past three years, but he was disputed by state Attorney General Evelle J. Younger who said there was no evidence that the Zebra murders were connected with killings in any other city.

The case was given the code name "Zebra" by police because "Z" was the letter of the police radio frequency being used in the investigation, which grew into the largest manhunt in San Francisco history.

Protest pay cut

Longshoremen out on strike

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — West Coast longshoremen went on strike today in protest against a cut in pay ordered under wage controls which expired at midnight.

The International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union dispatch hall said the union was "on strike."

Other West Coast ports were also affected by the work stoppage, but military cargoes and passenger vessels were not expected to be tied up.

The union did not indicate whether the walkout would be a 24-hour protest or develop into a battle to regain the contract cuts that resulted from wage controls.

A spokesman for the Pacific Maritime Association employers declared the strike violated its contract with the longshore union. He said the contract provides for "stop work meetings" in grievance cases but "that certainly doesn't cover anything like this."

Dockworkers in San Francisco, Seattle, San Diego, Long Beach and Portland were not dispatched for day shifts, but no pickets were posted at the docks.

Scores of ships were affected by the stoppage.

Indian-police courtroom free-for-all delays trial

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (UPI) — A club-swinging courtroom battle between Indians and police which resulted in a dozen casualties brought a one-day recess today in the trial of five militant Indians charged in a 1973 riot at Custer, S.D.

Court was recessed until 9:30 a.m. Thursday following the free-for-all Tuesday which sent 10 persons to the hospital for treatment.

The fighting also indirectly caused the deaths of an elderly Sioux Falls couple who were killed when the car they were in was hit by a state patrol cruiser racing to the scene of the battle.

Ramon Roubideaux, chief attorney for the five defendants, said he would demand a mistrial be called or that the trial be moved to federal court. Roubideaux and leaders of the militant American Indian Movement (AIM) said the Tuesday courtroom incident showed again that Indians cannot get a fair trial in South Dakota courts.

An order by Circuit Court Judge Joseph Bottum to clear the courtroom touched off the fist-swinging, chair-smashing brawl on the third floor of the Minnehaha County Courthouse.

About 75 to 100 Indians outside the building smashed windows and hauled down the American flag when they saw chairs flying out the third-story windows of the courthouse.

Eda Gordon, spokesman for the legal committee representing the Indians, called it "a police riot if there ever was one." AIM supporter John Thomas said no action was taken by any of the Indians in the courtroom.

The courtroom was a shambles and about half the windows in the modern, relatively new building were knocked out.

First stage smog alert forecast

SAN BERNARDINO — A first stage "air pollution episode" was forecast for 2 p.m. today by the San Bernardino County Air Pollution Control Board.

who have respiratory problems are urged to limit their outdoor activities. The episode will cover much of the valley area, including the West End communities of Chino, Montclair, Upland and Ontario.

Officials estimated the ozone count would reach from .10 to .15 parts per million.

A similar smog episode was projected for Tuesday, but later canceled.

Fourth arraigned on murder charge

Three suspects in slaying released

POMONA — Isaac Ike Gibson, 50, was arraigned Tuesday in Pomona Municipal Court on the charge of murdering 40-year-old Donald Rufus Truelove here last Sunday night.

Gibson, 590 E. Ninth St., was arraigned before Pomona Municipal Court Judge Robert C. Gustaveson, who scheduled the preliminary hearing May 8 and ordered the defendant held without bail.

Three other persons, arrested by police at 586 E. Ninth St., the scene of the killing, have been released. Donald George Alloway, 39, was freed Monday. Tuesday Harry Edward Pigg, 56, and Evelyn Arlene Hansen, 47, were released after the district attorney's office declined to issue complaints against them.

An autopsy performed Monday at the coroner's office revealed that Truelove died as the result of a severe beating he had absorbed. Several puncture wounds also were examined, but did not actually cause his death, authorities said. Investigators said they believe the victim was killed because of a long-standing feud.

5-year sentence for Agnew's successor

BALTIMORE (UPI) — N. Dale Anderson, who succeeded Spiro T. Agnew as Baltimore County Executive and was convicted of corruption charges developed in the same federal investigation that led to the former vice president's resignation, was sentenced today to five years in prison.

Youth caught after 100 m.p.h. chase

ONTARIO — A West Covina youth running away from home Tuesday crashed his father's car near Valley Boulevard after leading highway patrolmen in a 100-mile-per hour chase on the San Bernardino Freeway.

The youth, 16, then jumped from the wrecked auto and attempted to escape on foot across an open field. He was caught.

His car had run off the freeway and was airborne 100 feet before hitting Valley Boulevard, 30 feet below. It went airborne another 50 feet before landing on all four wheels at the bottom of a 30-foot enbankment.

Officers said the driver may have driven off the freeway in a suicide attempt. A farewell note found at his home stated he planned to die.

The youth was admitted to San Bernardino County Hospital's psychiatric ward. He was accused of reckless driving and hit-and-run.

The high-speed chase had begun on the freeway at Towne Avenue when Patrolman Casey Plooy pulled into the eastbound lanes.

He saw a car coming toward him at a high rate of speed, but slowed down as he drove past the CHP vehicle. "I started to make a regular stop, but when I turned on my red light the driver really started going," he added.

The youth weaved in and out of traffic as speeds reached 100 miles per hour. At Mountain Avenue in Ontario, his car sideswiped another eastbound car. That auto, however, did not go off the roadway.

From Mountain Avenue to Archibald Avenue, the driver drove on the center divider, said Plooy. "Several times I thought he would collide with the protruding guard rails. But each time he swerved just in time to avoid a collision."

Plooy said he remained a distance behind the car in the traffic. But when the pursued vehicle reached Valley Boulevard, it appeared the driver made a right turn off the freeway, he noted.

As the auto skipped off the Valley Boulevard roadway, it missed a bridge railing and several Eucalyptus trees.

Plooy was surprised the driver could still climb from his auto and flee on foot because of the damage done to the car's steering wheel, where the youth was thrown against it.

After a short foot chase in the open field, Plooy shouted for the youth to stop. "He then gave up." The officer described him as being a very "shy" person.

Both 'good and bad' about Watergate

Attorney says Nixon has told everything

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon would not discuss blackmail in the White House "if he had to do it over again," but the President now has disclosed everything he knows—both "the good and the bad"—about Watergate, his chief lawyer said today.

Attorney James D. St. Clair said that, contrary to some accounts of transcripts of some of Nixon's key Watergate conversations made public Tuesday, the President did stop hush payments to the original seven Watergate defendants, particularly E. Howard Hunt, when he told aides on March 21, 1973:

"...in the end, we are going to be bled to death. And in the end, it is all going to come out anyway. Then you get the worst of both worlds. We are going to lose and the people are going to..."

Asked by reporters about the "propriety of discussing Hunt's alleged blackmail demands in the White House, St. Clair said: "I'm sure if he had it to do over again, he wouldn't."

St. Clair told reporters that the edited transcripts showed that Hunt, who pleaded guilty as a Watergate conspirator, had threatened to expose activity of former presidential aide John D. Ehrlichman and "national security matters," apparently meaning the breakin of the office of the psychiatrist of Pentagon Papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg.

St. Clair conceded that a $75,000 payment in "hush money" was made to Hunt after the March 21 meeting by Nixon with top aides when the President said he first learned of the Watergate cover-up and that money had been paid to the defendants.

(Related stories, A-2)

But St. Clair said Nixon had no knowledge of the $75,000 payment until the middle of April, 1973. The lawyer also said Nixon did not know when the actual payment was made.

"He did not approve of it and was not told of it," St. Clair said.

St. Clair said of the telephone book-size volume of transcripts: "This is the Watergate story as far as the President is concerned—the good and the bad of it."

At another point in explaining why the White House would defy a subpoena by Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski for 64 Nixon tape recordings, St. Clair said, "Everything we know is in the book."

He said that as far as the White House is concerned Jaworski has enough evidence to prosecute seven former White House aides and associates of Nixon who are accused of involvement in the coverup of the scandals.

As for why Nixon made the historic decision to make public some of his most intimate, confidential conversations in the White House, St. Clair said it was a difficult decision but that in Nixon's judgment he believed "the existence of the presidency was at stake."

He said that it was the President's decision to bare the whole story of Watergate and that he, as Nixon's lawyer, concurred in it.

He said that Nixon came to the conclusion that "people were getting more and more imbued with the idea that the President had something to hide."

"He felt the presidency was affected, that the facts ought to be known" and he said the President believed that he should "get out the facts."

St. Clair said the House Judiciary Committee should be convinced of the authenticity of the transcripts, provided the committee Tuesday, by the very weight of the material delivered and that there would be no reason to suspect that any key conversation was excised.

"That would not be very smart'" he said.

Nixon and Dean: truth or lies, or in between

Their discussion bared in transcript

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At 12 minutes past 10 on the morning of March 21, 1973, Richard M. Nixon and John W. Dean III sat down in the President's Oval Office for a private chat, a discussion now laid bare in an edited transcript for all the world to judge who is telling the truth about Watergate.

What they talked about together for two hours now will be talked about for weeks and months to come by the public, press and impeachment investigators alike in a search for answers to the serious questions raised that spring morning 13 months ago.

Dean contends his discussion with Nixon left him convinced that the President himself was deeply involved in the plot to hush up the bugging scandal. Nixon, conceding their words may be interpreted in "drastically different ways," Tuesday released the transcript and said it proves his innocence.

This is what that transcript shows:

—Nixon discussed at length giving in to bugging conspirator E. Howard Hunt's demand for $120,000 to keep quiet, and mused that the demand should be met "damn soon."

—The President saw no problem in raising $1 million in cash to buy the silence of all seven original Watergate defendants "to take care of the jackasses who are in jail," but rejected the prospect of granting them clemency as politically impossible.

—Dean was afraid the coverup would come unraveled and "get real nasty and just be a real bad situation," but Nixon said he didn't "give a damn about the publicity ... if we had to let the whole damn thing out."

—Nixon urged that the case be turned over to a new grand jury because it would give top White House officials an excuse not to appear at the Senate Watergate hearings. It would also be a secret forum where they could testify while safely evading questions.

— The President believed John N. Mitchell, his former attorney general and campaign manager, was "seriously involved" in the scandal and said there had to be an effort "to keep him with us" as the situation evolved.

— Nixon asked whether priests associated with a Cuban refugee committee through whom hush money payments might be funneled would "give a little cover" to the operation.

— H. R. Haldeman, then the White House chief of staff, who joined the meeting at the halfway point, said it was essential to turn suspicion away from the President "at whatever cost it takes."

Dean began a rundown of Watergate, describing it as "a cancer within, close to the presidency that is growing every day."

He detailed how G. Gordon Liddy was put in charge of intelligence operations for the re-election committee and characterized Liddy's plans for bugging, mugging and kidnaping as "the most incredible thing I have ever seen" and "absurd."

Dean indicated that White House aide Charles Colson apparently pressured Jeb Magruder to make use of the Liddy team and said then-Attorney General John Mitchell had "probably puffed on his pipe and said 'go ahead'."

After the Watergate burglary, Dean said, Liddy told him he was "pushed without mercy by Magruder" to do the bugging. Dean then told Nixon that Magruder was probably being pushed by Gordon Strachan, a Haldeman aide, under the impression that Haldeman "wanted things."

Discussing money demands made by the burglars, Dean said presidential lawyer Herbert Kalmbach had "raised some cash." Nixon said he would "certainly keep" a Cuban commtitee formed as a cover for the money "for whatever it is worth." But Dean said as a result of the defendant's cash demands, he, Ehrlichman, Haldeman and Mitchell could be guilty of obstruction of justice.

The Cuban committee, Nixon said later in asking whether it would be obstructing justice, would be a good cover because it had priests on it.

Haldeman had $350,000 in a safe that might be used, Dean said, pointing out that Ehrlichman was involved in the payoff discussions "and then we decided there was no price too high to pay to let this thing blow up in front of the election."

Throughout the meeting, Dean and Nixon discussed the likelihood that paid off or not in a "continual blackmail operation", Hunt would probably "blow the whistle" on White House officials.

Dean estimated a complete payoff would cost $1 million over two years, and Nixon said he knew where the money could be raised but didn't know who should handle that. He and Dean agreed Mitchell could be put in charge of it.

Dean told Nixon that he (Dean) Haldeman, Ehrlichman and Mitchell should meet to figure out "how this can be carved away from you, so that it does not damage you or the presidency. It just can't: You are not involved in it . . . Nixon interjected: "That is true."

Nixon and Dean then began a lengthy talk on ways to deal with the situation, with Nixon suggesting either "complete disclosure," calling another grand jury to take testimony from White House aides, or making a public statment in connection with a new grand jury, in order to make it look like the White House was above board.

Dean said some people, including himself, were going to have to go to jail. Nixon told Dean, "Hell' no. I can't see how you can."

Nixon, talking about the hush money, said it would be "worthwhile" if the million dollars could be raised and Dean could take care of the "blackmailers."

But Nixon said flatly he would do nothing about clemency, agreeing with Dean that granting clemency before the election, in Nixon's words, would be "wrong, that's for sure."

At that point, Dean and Nixon —and later in the meeting with Haldeman —began discussing the pros and cons of "cutting our losses" or "fighting it out," with Nixon concluding, "It's better to fight it out and not let people testify, and so forth."

Asked if he could present credible explanation of events to the cabinet, Dean replied: "I can give a show we can sell them just like we were selling Wheaties."

In pressing for a meeting among Dean, Haldeman, Ehrlichman and Mitchell to figure out how to proceed on Watergate, Nixon commented, "If we had to let the whole damn thing hang out, and it would be a lousy story for a month. But I can take it."

Toward the end of the meeting, Nixon told Dean: ". . . For your immediate things you have no choice but to come up with $120,000 (for Hunt), or whatever it is. Right?" Dean agreed and Nixon asked: "Would you agree that that's the prime thing that you damn well better get that done?"

Dean replied: "Obviously he ought to be given some signal anyway."

Nixon: "(Expletive deleted) get it."

Three more oil firms report big profits hike

NEW YORK (UPI) — Three more oil companies have reported sharply higher first quarter profits, joining a long list of big petroleum firms showing drastic leaps in earnings during the energy crisis.

Atlantic Richfield Co., Phillips Petroleum and Cities Service Corp., Tuesday reported first quarter incomes ranging from 87 to 150 per cent above the figures for the same period in 1973.

Atlantic Richfield of Los Angeles said its net for the first three months of the year rose 87 per cent over a year ago to $93.9 million, or $1.65 per share.

Phillips Petroleum of Bartlesville, Okla., reported a gain in net income of 150 per cent over last year's first quarter to $108.6 million or $1.43 a share.

Cities Service Corp. had an 87 per cent gain in first quarter net to $68.8 million, or $2.64 a share —despite after-tax writeoffs of $7.9 million on startup expenses at its Copperhill, Tenn., chemical plant.

'Suspicious fire' damages shed at Boys Republic

CHINO — West End sheriff's detectives and Chino Fire Department inspectors are investigating the cause of a fire that roared through a shed at the Boys Republic here, causing an estimated $10,000 damage.

Capt. Leo Beason of the Chino Fire Department and Lenn Allen of the West End Sheriff's sub-station said this morning that the fire was of "suspicious origin."

The fire was first reported by Boys Republic security guard Dan Curtiss who said he was checking the buildings at 1:45 a.m. when he noticed flames inside of the shed, used for production of Della Robbia Christmas wreaths. Curtiss said he noticed no one in the area at the time.

When three Chino fire companies arrived, the inside of the shed was engulfed in flames. Firemen knocked down a major portion of the blaze within five minutes, but remained on the scene for more than two hours extinguishing smouldering Eucalyptus pods, pine cones and other materials used in the production of the wreaths.

The youths at Boys Republic manufacture the wreaths that are sold worldwide.

Beason said it appeared that several fires started simultaneously in different parts of the 40 by 70 foot sheet metal building. Fireman managed to contain the blaze before it spread to the larger production building.

Nixon later gave okay to burglary--Ehrlichman

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former presidential adviser John D. Ehrlichman has said in court papers that President Nixon twice "indicated his after-the-face approval" of the Ellsberg burglary by White House "plumbers" and ordered his Watergate investigators to stay away from it.

In an affidavit, Ehrlichman also said Henry A. Kissinger was present at the 1971 San Clemente White House meeting at which Nixon appointed a Kissinger aide, David Young, to be codirector of the newly created "plumbers" unit, assigned to plug national security leaks.

In September, during Senate confirmation hearings on his appointment as secretary of state, Kissinger testified under oath that he "did not know of the existence of the plumbers group, by that or any other name."

Ehrlichman, who is under indictment for conspiracy and other charges related to the Sept. 3, 1971, burglary of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office, made the new statements in a court document seeking to obtain classified national security material for his defense.

The former presidential adviser on domestic affairs, who resigned one year ago Tuesday, contends the Ellsberg burglary was legally justified as a national security requirement, and that in any case he did not know about it in advance.

In the affidavit filed in U.S. District Court, Ehrlichman said Nixon told him he did not have advance knowledge of the burglary of the psychiatrist, Dr. Lewis J. Fielding, either.

But, Ehrlichman said: "The President indicated his after-the-fact approval of this effort to secure evidence of Ellsberg's motives and potential." Ellsberg had leaked the Pentagon papers, dealing with the Vietnam War.

Ehrlichman said Nixon twice discussed the burglary in his presence, the first occasion coming with a phone conversation between Nixon and Henry Peterson,

Ford to lay off 37,000, shut down 14 plants

DETROIT (UPI) — Ford Motor Co. said it would shut down 14 assembly plants by Thursday, idling 37,000 hourly workers, because of a parts shortage stemming from strikes at two Michigan suppliers.

Ford, which reported profits were down 65.7 per cent during the first quarter of 1974 from the record pace of last year, said the layoffs were necessitated by strikes at Bendix Corp. of St. Joseph, Mich., and at Kelsey-Hayes Co. of Jackson, Mich.

Wage, price controls end; Nixon appeals to business

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wage-price controls expired at one minute past midnight today, and President Nixon urged business leaders to cooperate in holding down prices.

Nixon made his appeal Tuesday night to 3,000 members of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

"If the fires of inflation continue to burn too brightly," he said, "the demand for controls will come up again in the country and will be reflected in the Congress."

Nixon also promised new action soon to stimulate the slumping housing industry.

Several Senate Democrats are fighting to re-impose Nixon's wage-price control authority, but their effort appeared to be faltering. One blow came Tuesday when House Speaker Carl Albert said that if Nixon couldn't make the old controls work, he shouldn't be given new authority.

Pushing for new control authority were Sens. Edmund S. Muskie, Maine; J. Bennett Johnston Jr., La., and Adlai E. Stevension III, Ill.

Their bill would restore authority to monitor the economy, give Nixon the right to enforce price agreements made before April 30 and give him standby authority to reinstate wage-price controls on particular segments of the economy to meet dire surges of inflation.

Industries freed from controls as legislation expired today included steel, copper, machinery, food processing, health services, construction, drugs and tobacco. They are now free to raise their prices. Controls on other industries had already been removed by government action.

This leaves virtually the entire U.S. economy free of wage-price controls for the first time since Aug. 15, 1972.

Petroleum prices, however, will continue to be controlled by the Federal Energy Office, which operates under separate legislation.

Children playing with matches blamed for fires

POMONA — Children playing with matches were blamed for separate fires Tuesday which caused $10,000 damage to a two-story duplex at 283 E. 11th St. and gutted a garage at 541 W. Alvarado St.

Firemen responded to an alarm at the residence of Mrs. Virginia Leichty at 283 E. 11th St. at 4:13 p.m. and discovered flames and smoke coming from the first-floor unit.

They were able to confine the fire to the bedroom, hall and kitchen area, and estimated $2,000 damage to the contents, and $8,000 loss to the building.

A 2-year-old child had been playing with matches in the bedroom, they discovered.

Two small boys were blamed for setting fire to a garage at 541 W. Alvarado St. about 6 p.m. The garage is owned by Mrs. Mona Rose Stewart.

Big 3 auto profits plummet 80.6%

DETROIT (UPI) — Profits of the "Big Three" automakers, squeezed by inflationary pressures that have pushed up costs of labor and materials and an energy crisis-induced sales slump, plunged 80.6 per cent in the first quarter of 1974.

The Ford Motor Co. completed the reporting by the Big Three Tuesday with a financial statement that showed profits of $125 million in the first three months, off 65.7 per cent from last year's record of $361 million.

It was Ford's lowest profit since 1967's first quarter when the No. 2 automaker earned $120.6 million. But Ford was high enough the first quarter of 1974 to give the firm a $4 million edge on industry giant General Motors Corp. which showed an 85 per cent drop from year-ago levels. Chrysler earnings were off 98.2 per cent.

Ford's worldwide sales in the first quarter were $5.5 billion, down 11 per cent from 1973 first-quarter sales of $6.1 billion. Earnings amounted to $1.31 a share, down from the $3.59 earned in the corresponding period of 1973.

Altogether, the three companies earned $245.6 million in the first quarter, compared with $1.27 billion in last year's first quarter. Sales in the period totaled $15.1 billion a drop of 18.8 per cent from $18.6 billion in last year's first three months.

American Motors Corp., which was due to report its earnings later in the day, was expected to show a slight increase in earnings since its sales have increased.

Like his counterparts at GM and Chrysler, Ford chairman Henry Ford II blamed the profit decline on "substantially lower volumes in the United States and Europe and from continued rapid increases in labor and material costs."

"Expenses associated with converting major facilities to small-car production and the cost of government-mandated equipment also were factors in the decline," said Ford.

Chaffey College board okays hiring

ALTA LOMA — Chaffey College trustees Tuesday authorized substantial staff increases for expanded programs in creative art, industrial technical studies, life sciences, social sciences and library resources.

Trustees, in an adjourned meeting, specified that new employment would be paced to board approval as they deliberated on the development of the 1974-75 budget in the order of priorities.

While no specific numbers of new employes, nor total salary amounts were announced, a college spokesman said the increases in staff would be "substantial" in the five areas.

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — Ronald Biggs, convicted of the $5.7 million Great Train Robbery in 1963 remains in a Brasilia jail pending the outcome of Britain's extradition request, an official British source says.

The official said in a telephone interview Tuesday from Brasilia that "as far as we know he's still here," when asked about reports that Biggs had been secretly moved out of Brazil. A Brazilian court was expected to rule by May 4 whether to extradite Biggs, jailed since his arrest in Rio de Janeiro Feb. 1.

7 people arrested

CHINO — Chino police said a three-month investigation into a large burglary ring operating at the Freightliner Corp., 13799 Monte Vista Ave., has resulted in the arrest of four Freightliner employes, two security guards, and the recovery of three cases of stolen truck parts.

Capt. Tony Linza said that an investigation at the truck manufacturing firm began Feb. 1 after company officials called to report that more than $12,000 in expensive truck parts were missing.

Undercover officers working inside the truck firm discovered that the thefts of truck parts were occurring regularly and being sold to other truck parts manufacturing companies outside of Chino.

The investigation culminated Friday with the arrest of four Freightliner employes, two Wells Fargo security guards, and an employe of the Jet Transportation Co. of 10755 Kadota Ave., Montclair. Officers during the arrests reportedly recovered more than three cases of truck parts valued at several thousand dollars.

Booked in the Chino jail were Freightliner employes Donnie Crowell, 34, of 837 Nocta St., Ontario, conspiracy to commit burglary; John Cunnius, 23, of Riverside, conspiracy to commit burglary and receiving stolen property; Joe Brown, 41, of 671 E. Ninth St., Upland, conspiracy to commit burglary; and Ira Marcum, 31, of 4575 Hawthorne St., Montclair, conspiracy to commit burglary.

Two employes of Wells Fargo, Frank Langley, 52, of Riverside and Nicholas Feiler, 26, of Rowland Heights, are booked in Chino jail on suspicion of conspiracy to commit burglary and receiving stolen property.

Arrested at the Jet Transportation Co. was Manuel Homen, 49, of 10161 Geneva St., Montclair, booked for receiving stolen property.

Two-year search for couple ends

SAN DIMAS — A two-year search for an Azusa couple wanted on a charge of child stealing for allegedly taking a 1-year-old boy for whom they were foster parents has ended in Maine.

Sgt. Dick Keyes of the San Dimas Sheriff's Station reported Tuesday that a computer check revealed that Frank Edwin and Mary Lucille Muntz are living in the tiny community of Monroe, Maine.

Keyes said that the couple is expected to waive extradition proceedings and be returned to California with the boy, now 3.

Keyes recalled that Mr. and Mrs. Muntz back in 1971 had taken the baby under a county foster parent program, and that when the Department of Public Social Services refused their adoption of the boy, the pair disappeared.

Keyes said that two sheriff's investigators had spent long hours in trying to trace the couple.

He said he checked the National Crime Information Center (NCIC) computer, and discovered the Muntzes had received a driving citation in Maine. They live in Monroe, but have a mailing address of nearby Frankfort.

Muntz is 60. His wife is 64.

Keyes said that because the couple had fallen in love with the infant and meant no harm, the court might not be too severe with them.

Inspection lane cones are stolen

POMONA — Some thieves must believe that the California Highway Patrol has a good thing goirg in its vehicle inspection program.

And they may have some thoughts of giving some competition.

While inspectors were at lunch Tuesday, thieves stole about 15 rubberized cones used to direct motorists through the inspection lanes. The theft occurred on Grand Avenue near the San Bernardino Freeway.

The officers had to borrow some other cones from the state highway department to finish the day.

Should the thieves attempt to set up a competing lane, Capt. W. C. Jones, CHP commander, said only his officers give stamps (for the car window, that is).

World alert to May Day dissent

By United Press Internationa

Police and soldiers around the world braced today for possible violence in annual May Day workers' celebrations highlighted by a coup in Portugal, an election in explosive labor rally in Argentina.

The United States, which celebrates Labor Day on the second Monday in September, was one of the world's few industrialized nations without a May 1 workers' holiday.

In Portugal, the military junta that toppled a rightist regime in a coup d'etat last week legalized May Day as a national workers' holiday for the first time in more than four decades.

Soldiers and tanks, however, guarded buildings in downtown Lisbon against possible violence. The holiday became a test of whether Gen. Antonio de Spinola's junta could increase freedom without an upsurge of violence.

In France, Communist leaders urged followers to stay away from potentially violent May Day demonstrations to avoid damaging the presidential campaign of frontrunning Socialist Francois Mitterrand.

A French Communist party spokesman said bad publicity from violent conflicts between police and demonstrators would work against Mitterrand.

In Argentina, the big May Day attractions were a mass workers' rally and a speech by President Juan Domingo Peron from a balcony of his Presidential Palace.

The demonstration was the first big workers' rally since Peron returned to Argentina last year after 18 years of evile. The speech was expected to bring back memories of old May Day harangues he used to whip up labor support.

Police were prepared for street battles between Peron's rival leftist and rightist followers.

In Peking, the holiday was celebrated with non-political "gala garden parties," the official Chinese news agency Hsinhua reported.

Diplomatic sources said, however, the Chinese toned down the celebration because of the nation's uncertain political situation.

In the Soviet Union, May Day was celebrated in a festive atmosphere with an absence of the speechmaking common in past years.

Thousands of Soviet citizens marched through Red Square in Moscow with flowers, balloons and banners marked with propaganda slogans.

In Japan, an estimated 7 million workers rallied across the country, many carrying banners and placards calling for the downfall of Prime Minister Kajuei Tanaka.

This year's celebration in Japan came less than a month after a series of nationwide strikes brought monthly pay boosts of about $100.

Tax bill may cost oil firms billions

WASHINGTON (UPI — A tax package that could cost oil companies billions of dollars in new taxes while phasing out the oil depletion allowance has been approved by the House Ways and Means Committee.

It is expected to pass the House easily, probably in about two weeks.

The bill, approved 14 to 5 Tuesday after defeat of several last-minute amendments to water it down, also includes a temporary "windfall profits tax," which actually is a graduated excise tax on crude oil prices.

The depletion allowance would be cut under the bill from the present 22 per cent to 15 per cent in 1975. It would fall to 8 per cent in 1976, then expire in 1977.

The committee staff estimated that the bill would produce an additional $13 billion to $14 billion in revenue from the oil industry over the next five years alone.

The depletion allowance permits an oil company to deduct a percentage of taxable income up to 50 per cent of profits. Critics have contended that it is simply a tax loophole while some companies contend is a necessary incentive for new oil exploration.

The windfall provision would be a graduated tax on any crude oil prices above $4.50 per barrel. The base would rise gradually until the tax disappeared.

Northrup Corp. fined for gift to campaign

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal judge fined Northrop Corp. and two of its executives today for illegally contributing $150,000 to President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

A 1940 federal law prohibits political contributions by corporations doing a substantial amount of business with the government, but Chief U. S. District Judge George L. Hart said it has not been enforced and served notice that next time a violation comes before him, "somebody is going to jail."

Northrop as a corporation pleaded guilty to one count of contributing to finance committees of Nixon's re-election effort and was fined $5,000.

Thomas G. Jones, Northrop's chairman and chief executive officer, pleaded guilty to one count of aiding and abetting violation of the law and he, too, was fined $5,000.

James Allen, vice president and assistant to the President, pleaded guilty to a charge of nonwilful violation of the laws and was fined $1,000.

"This law has been openly flouted for more than 20 years," Hart complained during a 20-minute court proceeding. "No attorney general up to this time has seen fit to enforce it."

"If it ever comes before me again, a case involving this law, somebody is going to jail," the judge declared.

The California-based Northrop is one of the leading defense contractors. It built the F5 fighter-jet used in Vietnam, and is a diversified compaay that specializes in aerospace equipment, communications and atomic equipment.

Thomas McBride, Assistant Watergate special prosecutor, said the prosecution task force had investigated whether Northrop had received any government contracts or awards as a result of the contributions and said "no evidence of this" was found.

McBride said that the prosecution reserved the right to prosecute on charges of bribery if any such deals involving Northrop did come to light.

Said Hart: "It's outrageous the way that this particular law has been permitted to be violated over the years."

Character actress dies at age 67

ROCHESTER, Minn. (UPI) — Agnes Moorehead, nominated four times for academy awards for film roles but best known as the sharptongued Endora in the television series "Bewitched," died Tuesday at Methodist Hospital of an undisclosed illness.

The 67-year-old character actress was under the care of Mayo Clinic doctors and had been hospitalized since April 9.

Miss Moorehead's first role was in Orson Welles' classic movie "Citizen Kane." In 1942 she was nominated for an academy award for her role in "The Magnicient Amberson." She was nominated again in 1944 for "Mrs. Parkington," in 1948 for "Johnny Belinda," and 1964 for "Hush, Hush, Sweet Charlotte." All her nominations were for best supporting roles.

Her film characterizations were often of drab, frustrated or shrewish women.

Second to acting Miss Moorehead enjoyed her half section of farmland between Zanesville and Cambridge, Ohio. The land was a grant to her great grandparents who came from England.

Miss Moorehead was born Dec. 6, 1906, in Boston, Mass., daughter of a Presbyterian minister. She was married to actor Jack G. Lee for 21 years before their divorce in 1951. In 1953 she married actor Robert Gist but that marriage was dissolved in 1959.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Los Angeles and Santa Barbara county supervisors settled a damage suit Tuesday by authorizing the payment of a total of $7,800 to a UC Santa Barbara student.

Earle charged he was falsely arrested and was beaten by arresting officers from Los Angeles County and by booking officers of Santa Barbara.

Under the settlement, Santa Barbara County will pay $4,200 and Los Angeles will pay $3,600. Los Angeles officers were helping battle rioters.

Security is tight at Hearst home

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Tight security was set up at Patricia Hearst's family home in fashionable Hillsborough today as the deadline on a $4 million food giveaway program drew near.

"It's a kind of critical time," her father, Randolph A. Hearst, president and editor of The San Francisco Examiner, told newsmen late Tuesday. "The next few days, you don't know what's going to happen."

The money will be released from escrow and applied to the food program by the Hearst Corp. Friday, only if Miss Hearst is released by the Symbionese Liberation Army, which kidnaped her on Feb. 4. Hearst has already provided $2 million for groceries for the poor in an effort to win his daughter's freedom.

But Miss Hearst, 20, said in recent tape-recorded messages sent by the SLA that she was giving up her former life and joining the revolutionary drive of the underground organization.

Hearst said a rusted iron gate in front of the family home just south of here was being welded shut, guards were being assigned to ring the house and locks were being changed.

"Certain parts of the house have not been so secure so we're beefing up security," the newspaperman said.

In a later interview he said he was "not very optimistic" the SLA would set free his daughter and he repeated his contention that she had "mind control used on her" to swing her into the ranks of the SLA.

Asked about his attitude of so-called oppressed people, Hearst said, "I think there should be social changes made in this country and I think they are being made all the time. Certainly I haven't any hatred for anybody if that's what you mean, except for the people who took Patricia."

In another development, a state prison inmate believed to have been one of several convicts who created the SLA appealed to Miss Hearst's kidnapers to free her to continue the food program for the poor.

"I have absolute faith that Cinque will do what is proper to prove the conditions for spending the $4 million," Clifford (Death Row Jeff) Jefferson, 48, said in a message relayed by San Francisco lawyer Vincent Hallinan.

Cinque has been identified as Donald D. DeFreeze, 30, an escaped convict who had been in prison with Jefferson. The FBI said he is the leader of the SLA.

Outlawing of ransom payments proposed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation designed to avoid another Patricia Hearst kidnaping case by outlawing the payment of ransom by corporations and trusts has been proposed by Attorney General Evelle Younger and a Republican state senator.

"We would be derelict if we were to allow the Hearst kidnaping to become a prototype for future crimes," Younger said Tuesday. "Extortion under the guise of altruistic purposes cannot be permitted again."

The package of five bills, authored by Sen. Dennis Carpenter, R-Newport Beach would prohibit ransom payments by corporations and trusts, outlaw the possession of money or property that has been extorted and void any pardon granted by a public official to meet kidnapers' demands.

One effect of the measures would be to ban future food giveaways demanded by kidnapers, such as the $2 million free food program carried out in the Hearst case. Under the legislation, a person—including someone accepting free food— would be breaking the law if he accepted a ransom payment.

Carpenter told newsmen "there have been more than 25 kidnapings in the United States since Patricia Hearst was seized Feb. 4 where ransom demands were made to corporations or trusts." He said his bill outlawing such payments would "take the profit out of future kidnapings."

However, the legislation would not interfere with an individual, such as Randolph Hearst, using his personal assets to meet a kidnaper's demands.

Hearst spent hundreds of thousands of his own money and millions of dollars in funds of the Hearst Foundation in an attempt to comply with demands of the Symbionese Liberation Army for free food distribution.

Entryway beauty committee OK'd

POMONA — For years, a favorite topic among city officials and residents alike has been the need to beautify main entryways to the city.

Funds in the past have actually been set aside in the city budget for this purpose but the project has not materialized.

A breakthrough may be in the works.

Mayor Ray J. Lepire has won unanimous City Council approval on his request for the formation of a committee to come up with recommendations for beautifying entrances to Pomona and street median planting.

Lepire said he would appoint to the committee two council members, two planning commissioners and four representatives from the Chamber of Commerce and proposed that its report be ready in mid-June to allow its consideration by the council during deliberations on the next city budget.

"For some time now I have been hearing from various segments of our city about the need to beautify the entrances to Pomona with signs such as constructed by our neighboring cities," Lepire wrote the council.

"In addition, the community workshop has developed as one of its 'statements of city needs' beautification of city entrances and our main arterial streets.

"After touring the city it is obvious that Pomona lacks the beauty and freshness that can be provided by an extensive entryway and street beautification program."

Structures allowed to stay

CLAREMONT — The city Architectural Commission has approved for two more years two trailers and a prefabricated building at College Chevrolet, 191 S. Indian Hill Blvd.

The commission did not feel it would want to approve the structures on a permanent basis since the car agency is on a main thoroughfare.

Commission members stressed that the structures are properly maintained.

Building permit for the prefab building expires this month, and the commission approved it for another two years.

The commission also approved an addition to the fellowship hall for the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church at 1700 N. Towne Ave.

Commission members had concern about the required parking, but that matter will go to the Planning Commission.

Also approved was an architectural and site plan review for the remodeling of the auditorium and court for Our Lady of the Assumption Church at 435 Berkeley Ave.

The city staff was instructed to make sure the applicant uses the same materials and colors as on the present structure.

The commission tabled until its next meeting further discussion on a request for approval of signs for canopies proposed for the south side of Griswold's Old School House at 415 W. Foothill Blvd.

The proposed awnings each would be 20½ feet long, nearly 13 feet wide and 10 feet high.

The commission wants to see a drawing to scale of the size, color and lettering of the proposed canopies to be sure they will be esthetically compatible.

2 suspects in Oregon burglary held

ONTARIO — Two persons wanted for investigation of armed burglary in Grants Pass, Ore., were spotted by an Ontario police officer Monday and arrested at Mission Boulevard and Mountain Avenue.

Robert Eugene Hollis, 27, and Linda Sue Hollis, 27, his wife, were seen by Officer Bill Sommers Monday afternoon. Sommers called for assistance when he noticed the couple matched the description of the Hollis'. They were arrested without resistance.

Hollis, according to Grants Pass police, was apprehended after allegedly breaking into a service station. Inside the station Hollis discovered the service station owner asleep and armed. Hollis took the owner's weapons and left. He was later apprehended, booked in jail and posted bail. A warrant was issued when he left Oregon.

The couple was being held in West End Jail for extradition to Oregon.

Construction begins at local retirement home

CLAREMONT — Construction has started on a $286,000 addition to Manor Lodge of Claremont Manor, a retirement community operated by Pacific Homes Corp. under auspices of the Southern California-Arizona Conference of the United Methodist Church.

Manor Lodge is designed for personal services to accommodate residents requiring limited assistance but not requiring 24-hour nursing services, as prvided in the Manor's 53-bed convalescent hospital.

The first phase of Manor Lodge, consisting of seven resident apartments and a dining room, was completed in 1969.

The new addition will provide 17 more resident apartments. The dining room will be expanded and a lounge will be provided on the second floor.

Fred McDowell of Criley and McDowell is the architect. Meisch Bros., Inc. of Pomona, is the contractor.

The expansion will enhance various levels of care provided at the Manor. Besides the 24 personal service units and the 53 convalescent hospital beds, there are 120 apartments in the main builing, 84 cottage units and 16 garden apartments, which were built in 1971.

At present the manor houses 315, as it begins its 26th year of operation.

Administrator Lloyd L. Rochambeau expects the expanded lodge ready for occpancy by late November.

C. L. Milhiser, chairman of the manor residence board, also serves on the Pacific Homes Corp.'s board of directors.

Academy is still taking applications

Applications for admission to the August class of the California Maritime Academy in Vallejo are still being accepted, according to registrar Mrs. Maureen Browning.

A two-part entrance examination is scheduled for Saturday, May 4, for those who wish to take the academy's examination in place of the Scholastic Aptitude Test or the American College Test.

The test will be given at 9 a.m. at the academy. Interested applicants may take the test at their high schools or colleges if a counselor requests the examination and offers to proctor the test.

Further information can be obtained by writing the academy at P.O. Box 1392, Vallejo, CA 94950 or calling (707) 642-4404.

Police chief guilty of taking bribes

SANTA BARBARA (UPI) — Stanley R. Camp was convicted Thursday of accepting bribes totaling $200 when he was police chief of the small community of Guadalupe in northern Santa Barbara County.

A Superior Court jury convicted Camp, who spent 26 years as a police officer, on two of five bribery counts involving acceptance of payoffs for protecting bookmaking. Penalty for the conviction is one to 14 years in prison.

Judge Floyd Dodson set May 16 to hear a defense motion for a new trial.

Low-cost protein: wrap it up with milk.

If you think protein only comes in butcher's paper, think again.

Because it also comes in glasses. Of milk.

In fact, three 8-ounce glasses add up to half the protein you need each day. For energy. For growth. For tissue repair.

And the cost adds up to just 28¢.

Compare that to what you're paying for the same amount of protein in other foods. Say, a small sirloin steak. Or a pork chop. Or any meat or fish.

The truth is, just about the only protein you can get for less these days comes from certain dried peas, beans and nuts.

Now: does this mean you should pass up meat and fish for milk? Of course not: all three foods belong in balanced diets.

But if you're concerned about the rising price of protein, now you know a thrifty way to get it.

Don't keep it under wraps.

California Milk Advisory Board

P.S. The more you know about protein and prices, the better. So:

1) When we say three glasses, we mean eight ounces per...or 24 ounces in all. And that price of 28¢ is based on the average price for one-half gallon of milk in stores throughout California.

2) The recommended daily allowance of protein is 45 grams. It's endorsed by the Food and Drug Administration, no less.

(And three glasses of milk, by the way, contain precisely 25.5 grams of protein: more than half the recommended amount.)

3) All protein measurements from "Nutrition and Physical Fitness," W.B. Saunders Co., ©1973.

Does that wrap everything up?

President of hearing society is re-elected

POMONA — Miss Barbara L. Jones of Taft has been elected to serve a second term as the president of the Pomona Valley Hearing Society.

The agency provides school and industrial testing, conducts classes in lipreading and acts as a referral source for hearing related problems.

Miss Jones currently works as a physical therapist for the California-Hawaii Elks Major Projects, a non-profit organization which aids physically handicapped children.

Because of her dedication to the hearing handicapped, she commutes from her Kern County residence to the monthly board meetings and to programs sponsored by the group.

Other officers elected include: Dr. Vernard Eller, first vice president; Mary L. Brewer, second vice president; Edna Staudenmayer, secretary and Dorothy Stevens, treasurer.

DR. BEAUMONT DAVISON

Engineering dean named at Cal Poly

POMONA — Dr. Beaumont Davison, vice president for regional higher education at Ohio University, has been selected dean of the Cal Poly School of Engineering.

Davison, who succeeds Dr. B.J. Shell who resigned to accept the presidency of Northrup Institute of Technology last March, will assume his new duties effective June 17.

While at Ohio University, Davison was also dean of the college of engineering and technology and professor and chairman of the department of electrical engineering.

County okays $125,000 for S.D. streets

SAN DIMAS — The county has allocated $125,000 to the City of San Dimas to assist with two street improvement projects.

The funds will go toward improvements to Bonita Avenue from Cataract Avenue to San Dimas Avenue, and San Dimas Canyon Road from Ramona Avenue to Foothill Boulevard.

Frank Basile, director of public works for San Dimas, said Bonta Avenue improvement should begin in August. The street will be reconstructed in accordance with the plans to revamp the downtown area with a western theme.

Improvements to San Dimas Canyon Road will include the reconstruction of the roadway to provide a four-lane curbed highway and also modify the traffic signals at Foothill Boulevard.

Counsel still denied for in-prison hearings

I read an article in the Progress-Bulletin dated March 19 and titled "Courts examining rights of inmates."

It stated that the U. S. Supreme Court has been asked to overturn a Court of Appeals decision imposing procedures on the Rhode Island Penitentiary.

If the decision is upheld rather than overturned, a prisoner will be allowed to hire an attorney for disciplinary hearings. The Supreme Court will decide later this year whether to hear the case.

I am in a state institution. I need information about having my case re-examined.

Also I would like to know if hearings in institutions are legal if the crime is serious and if a serious charge can be brought to court.

I was locked in isolation for suspicion of dealing pills. To me this is a very serious charge. I wanted it brought to court but my request was denied.

The institution officials brought me in front of their kangaroo court and found me guilty only on hearsay evidence.

I wanted the medical doctor here to be a witness. I wrote to him but my letter was not allowed to get to him. I asked the hearing director if I could have the doctor and two medical technician assistants as witnesses on my behalf. He said it was not important.

This would have had a great bearing on my behalf. I also asked if I could have a lawyer. This was denied. I more or less proved that it was impossible for me to get pills out of the hospital or into the institution as I had not had any visits at the time involved. I was not found with any pills.

I'm only 20 and have been here since August 1973. I was given a year. I just went to the parole board again and was given another year. The whole situation is a disaster to me. —W. B., Ontario.

We are told by Lawrence M. Gassner, attorney for the Pomona Valley Chapter, American Civil Liberties Union, that the immediate appointment of counsel is still denied in California for in-prison hearings relating to parole rights.

One of the arguments that the state uses to deny counsel in such matters is that the hearings are not prosecuted by a district attorney or another attorney but are handled entirely by parole and prison personnel on an informal basis.

Gassner pointed out that these nonlegal persons may be extraordinarily capable and expert in their special areas so that the prisoner is as inadequately represented as though he were opposing a licensed attorney.

He said application to court for immediate appointment of counsel would not help you since you are not presently involved in any legal proceeding in which you are entitled to counsel.

The only remedy the attorney could suggest was that you file a petition for writ of habeas corpus asking for legal relief for your grievances.

You might state in that petition that the hearing given you was inadequate procedurally, that you were not represented by counsel, that findings were made against you without adequate evidence or in the face of overwhelming evidence to the contrary, Gassner said.

This petition might cause the court to appoint counsel for you for judicial hearing.

Although there is no way for you to obtain an attorney except by private arrangement, Gassner said forms for such a petition are available at prisons and there are usually "jailhouse lawyers" around to assist in its preparation.

Gassner said, "We are now reaching the stage where prisons may be required to maintain an attorney on the staff if jailhouse lawyers are not available." He commented that you might suggest that need in your petition.

Extension granted to CATV firm

POMONA — Nation Wide Cablevision Inc., sole holder of a franchise to operate a community antenna television system here, will have four additional years to complete the construction of a city-wide CATV system.

City officials said the extension was necessary because the firm had failed to meet the terms of an original agreement entered into with the City Council in May of 1969.

Nation Wide won the franchise in 1969 in competition with a number of other companies, including some which have since gone out of the CATV business.

Extension of the deadline to March 1, 1978, came with the 5-0 council approval Monday of an amendment to a city ordinance and revision of the agreement, last amended in March of 1972.

A spokesman for Nation Wide said the entire city system would stretch for about 200 miles and at present, undergrounding has been completed in the Ganesha Hills area.

He said that as part of the agreement the firm was paying the city $1,500 a year for a non-exclusive franchise and also would underground city fire alarm equipment.

City Atty. Patrick Sampson advised the council that under the agreement that existed, the city could have filed a lawsuit against the bonding company that posted a $250,000 faithful performance bond and the cable company.

Sampson said he was informed the funds needed to complete the system would be "far in excess" of the $250,000.

He said if the franchise were canceled, someone would have to assume the responsibility of servicing present subscribers, adding that in the event of a lawsuit, the bonding company itself possibly could attempt to put in the system.

Councilman Ben Ochoa Sr. noted that in years past, a number of CATV firms started out with market projections that did not materialize and subsequently were bought out by larger companies.

The Nation Wide spokesman said present regulations made it possible for another CATV firm to do business in Pomona such as by paying a flat 3 per cent of gross receipts.

Councilman Charles W. Bader said that by moving against the performance bond he could see the possibility of the city getting involved in running a CATV business.

County approves estimated budget of $2.8 billion

LOS ANGELES — The Board of Supervisors has authorized publication of a $2.8 billion budget recommendation, but indications were that the proposal was far from acceptance.

The preliminary budget, submitted by Chief Administrative Officer Arthur G. Will, calls for a 25 per cent increase in county taxes, moving the tax rate from $3.8652 to $4.6998 per $100 of assessed valuation.

The supervisors agreed Tuesday to move the proposal along for publication so that they can hold public hearings. But they began to sharpen their pencils today.

Peter F. Schabarum, first district supervisor, called the proposal "simply unacceptable" and said he would insist on rolling back any suggested expansion in county services.

He said he will focus heavily on requests for 488 additional welfare workers and 191 more employes in health services.

"No one has shown me so far that we need this expansion," Schabarum said. "Personally, I feel we can live without it."

Other supervisors pledged that they will trim the budget "line by line."

The budget discussions began just as the Office of Revenue Sharing in Washington announced that the county's allocation of federal revenue sharing funds will be cut by $9 million during the coming fiscal year.

That will leave the county with about $109 million in revenue sharing to operate during the year starting July 1.

Proposed sale of S.D. school site to city delayed by school board

SAN DIMAS — The proposed sale of the San Dimas Elementary School site to the City of San Dimas remained unresolved after the Bonita school board's meeting Tuesday night.

A resolution calling for the sale of the site to the city for a park was prepared by James Briggs, deputy county counsel representing the school district, and the San Dimas city attorney Norman Oliver's office. But upon review, Asst. Supt. Dr. James Overin told board trustees the city could not accept the proposal, and the school board was again left without a resolution to act upon.

In the agreement document, Overin said zoning for the school property was set for multiple family housing, a zoning agreeable to the city previously when officials had planned to purchase only two or three of the school site's five acres. But when the city officials became interested in purchasing the complete site, they felt they could not live with the multiple family housing zoning and are requesting a change, according to Overin.

The city is also asking for a clause in the agreement which will state that if someone besides the city purchases the site the city will be repaid for demolition of school buildings. Also sought is another clause providing for a five-to seven-year time payment.

School board members expressed the feeling that they have done what they can and will be willing to give their approval when the city and legal counsel agree on a new document.

"There is nothing further we can do," stated Dr. Overin, "so we must withdraw the proposal at this time."

During the meeting board members awarded six contracts amounting to $19,673.61 for furniture and equipment for the Lone Hill School now under construction.

Companies awarded contracts were as follows: Barrett-Robinson Co. for 46 metal stools, $289.80; Culver Newlin, Inc., for 24 tables, $2,200.15; Kasef, Inc., for file cabinets, tables, stools, and secretarial chairs, $4,493.88; Pacific Seating Co. for 60 music chairs, $654; Stockwell and Binney, Inc., for 11 file cabinets and two secretarial desks, $1,180.28; and Virco Mfg. Corp. for 249 chairs, 160 arm chairs, nine teacher desks, eight adjustable rectangular tables, 16 round adjustable tables, six smaller tables and 64 art tables, $9,741.90.

Members of the Gladstone School faculty gave a presentation on the innovative kindergarten program at the school to board members. In the program a series of placement tests in various areas including motor skills, dominance and intelligence precedes instruction placement. A readiness program prepares students for reading and helps determine their reading level, and older students are used to help the kindergarten pupils individually. Parents at the school are involved in the program and assist the team of teachers in the kindergarten department.

Pomonan, 21, hurt in two-car collision

POMONA — Christine C. Murphy, 21, of 655 E. San Francisco Ave., suffered a head cut late Tuesday afternoon in a two-car collision at Holt and Towne avenues. She was released after treatment at Pomona Valley Comunity Hospital. The other driver, Julia A. Campen, 23, Duarte, was not hurt.

Revenue limit election drive meeting planned

POMONA — The recently formed Citizens' Committee for the Revenue Limit Election Campaign in the Pomona Unified School District will hold a public meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Westmont Community Building.

Purpose of the meeting is to outline plans for urging passage of Proposition T in the June 4 election, according to committee chairman Chuck Braswell.

In Proposition T, the school district is asking a 72 cent per $100 assessed valuation increase in property tax to be offset by a 72 cent reduction in property tax through Senate Bill 90.

"Proposition T gives us a chance to bring some $1.5 million into the school district without raising anyone's taxes this year," said Braswell. "But it's going to take a massive effort to see that the majority of our voters understand this.

"That's why we welcome the help of other concerned citizens, and we urge them to attend Thursday night's meeting."

Braswell said that some 200 supporters of the district are expected to attend.

Schools Supt. Robert Wentz has said that monies brought in through the override, if it is successful, will aid in granting salary increases to teachers.

Pomonan will be sworn in Friday as a federal judge

LOS ANGELES — Robert Firth of Pomona will be sworn in Friday as a federal judge for the central district of California.

The swearing-in ceremony will take place at 12:30 p.m. in Courtroom No. 8 in the U.S. Courthouse at 312 N. Spring St.

Administering the oath will be Albert Lee Stephens Jr., chief judge of the U.S. District Court for the central district.

For the past 6½ years Firth has been a Superior Court judge, having been appointed by Gov. Reagan in November of 1967. Before his appointment to the Superior Court, Firth was a member of the Pomona law firm of Nichols, Stead, Boileau and Lamb. He was nominated for the federal bench by President Nixon earlier this year and was subsequently confirmed by the Senate.

Chino school employes are offered 8.5% cost-of-living salary raises

CHINO — The Chino School District administration presented its initial salary proposals to the school board Tuesday afternoon, offering both certificated and classified employes an 8.5 per cent cost of living raise.

Dist. Supt. Royce Lapp told the board that the 8.5 per cent adjustment would raise the district's pay level above the average of surrounding districts.

At least part of the pay increases, said Lapp, was made possible by withholding the $170,000 Instructional Improvement Fund this year. The fund is normally disbursed among the district schools to be used at the discretion of each principal and a select committee.

This year the fund was withheld and included in the district's $200,000 undistributed reserve.

The salary proposals will next go to the district Certificated Employes Council and the Calif. School Employes Assoc. for their consideration.

In other action Tuesday, the school board:

— Adopted a resolution inviting the City Council to join the school district in forming a "blue ribbon" committee to study the need for, and development of, a cultural-fine arts center in Chino.

— Adopted class offerings for the district's summer school and intersession program.

— Approved joint district-federally funded programs in elementary math and foreign language, Foreign Language Laboratory, Children's Center, Adult Basic Education Project, and individualized instruction in Wood and Cabinet Shop.

Low pay but look at benefits

While they are busy giving so much attention to President Nixon's tax problems, Americans ought to consider another perspective regarding his "seeming financial avarice," suggests one writer.

This is the unfortunate fact, writes columnist Kevin P. Phillips, "that our dollar-minded culture, together with the exalted domestic and international status of our chief executives, focuses a very real psychological pressure on presidents to get enough money to sustain their egos and lifestyles after leaving office."

Richard Nixon's "hungry, careless quest" to drive his fortune over the $1-million mark, claims Phillips, is only part of a pattern established by at least the last three presidents.

Even a $200,000-a-year salary isn't enough, he says. Relative to the grandeur and importance of their jobs, plus the omnipresent materialism of U.S. culture, our American presidents have been underpaid.

He points out that had Mr. Nixon been the president of one of the country's huge coporations, and during five years in office had negotiated an end to a crippling 11-year war, broken new ground in overseas relations and put an end to city rioting, he would probably have received large bonuses and stock options which almost certainly would have made him a millionaire.

But as President, he got no bonus for ending the war in Vietnam, nor any stock options for concluding agreements with China or Russia.

Granting Phillips' premise that our presidents are underpaid and that their pursuit of the dollar is a reflection of, or on, our materialistic culture, he overlooks another kind of "stock option" available to them that no corporation executive could buy with any amount of money.

And that is the chance to carve a lasting niche in history as a great and respected leader — to change history itself for the better.

Only history can judge how much of that chance Richard Nixon forfeited by his "hungry, careless quest" for wealth. And only Richard Nixon can know in his heart how much of that wealth he would now gladly forfeit for another chance to win the esteem of living and future Americans.

Top twelve swayers of U.S.

Who Runs America?

That was the basic question in a survey conducted and published by U.S. News and World Report in an effort to find out just who are the twelve individuals who, for good or bad, exert the greatest influence on the course our nation takes.

Those approached were in themselves outstanding leaders in the full gamut of American life. They were asked to list "the five men or women who, in your opinion, are the most influential in the United States today. USN&WR defined "most influential" as meaning "Those persons who by exercising (with emphasis on that word) their abilities, reputation, power or wealth, most deeply affect the course of national events."

Far and away the most influential two, in the opinion of some 500 respondents, were President Richard M. Nixon, in first place, and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, second. Nixon's score on a range of 5 for first place to 1 for fifth, was 1,773; Kissinger's, 1,409. Below them the gap was wide, labor giant George Meany in third place topping the others with 404 points.

The other nine, in descending order, were Ralph Nader, David Rockefeller, "the Kissinger of private capital," Chief Justice Warren Burger, former Secretary of the Treasury George P. Schultz, and his successor William E. Simon, Vice President Gerald Ford, Representative Wilbur D. Mills, Senator Mike Mansfield, and Senator Edward Kennedy.

No women came close, although Mrs. Katharine Graham, publisher of the Washington Post topped all entries in the newspaper field.

Significantly, the respondents named Television as the most influential organization or institution. The White House and Supreme Court shared second place, newspapers were fourth and labor fifth in the list of 18.

Among the major implications of the survey found by U.S. News & World Report is the rise of organizational influence over individual. "We're in a power vacuum. . .a famine of political leadership."

IRS scores a bull's eye

Time and chance — and, the Good Book might have added, the tax collector — happeneth to all men. But for some reason, the toxophilites among us have been ignored by the latter in the pursuit of their interest. Toxophily is otherwise known as archery.

This glaring oversight in the tax laws has now been remedied. Effective July 1, a federal excise tax of 11 per cent will be levied on the sale of bows, arrows and archery accessories, thenceforth and forever, amen.

Probers claim misuse of public funds

WASHINGTON — In a sizzling, secret report which Republicans are fighting to supress, House investigators have charged that President Nixon has spent $17 million in public funds on his private estates.

The report lashes the responsible government agencies for their cavalier spending and calls upon them to "seek restitution" of the "unauthorized expenditures."

"(They) have abused the discretion given them," charges the report. "They have permitted public funds to be used to procure nonsecurity items. They have permitted non-government personnel to commit federal government funds. They have abandoned fiscal responsibility. . . ."

The Secret Service is singled out for allowing President Nixon to improve his private property in the name of security. This "has tarnished the image of a once highly respected organization," declares the report.

The cost of providing protection on private presidential property has soared, states the report, "from practically nothing during the Roosevelt-Truman era to more than $17 million during the first five years of the Nixon Administration. This is more than the combined salaries of all United States Presidents."

President Nixon is lectured for "imposing burdens on the taxpayers of the nation. Maintaining private residences for use a few days each year," scolds the report, "imposes a heavy burden on the public treasury. . .

"Funds needed to provide presidential security should be, have been and are really available. However, every dollar that is diverted into nonsecurity expenditures under this program is a dollar that is not then available to provide needed additional security."

This is the latest word on a scandal we pried open on Oct. 3, 1972, when we reported that the taxpayers were financing improvements at President Nixon's San Clemente estate. A House subcommittee, headed by Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex., conducted an exhaustive investigation.

The findings were approved by the Democrats but rejected by the Republicans, who have now produced their own report. We have obtained bootleg copies of both versions. The differences are quite revealing:

—The Republican version completely ignores the question of paying the taxpayers back for "unauthorized expenditures" on President Nixon's San Clemente and Key Biscayne property. Yet the Joint Taxation Committee, which investigated Mr. Nixon's tax returns, counted these expenditures as extra income and ruled that the President owed taxes on them.

—The Republican draft doesn't mention the $17 million — $9.2 million at San Clemente and $7.8 million at Key Biscayne — that the Brooks report claims the government spent on the two estates. The Republicans speak instead of $700,000 that the President spent on his San Clemente house and brush off the rest casually as "additional expenditures of federal money."

—The Republican version deletes evidence that the Nixons personally ran up the government gardening bill at Kay Biscayne. Referring to the Nixons as "our clients," a General Services Administration memo reports that they "had visited Key Biscayne and some changes had been made in the landscaping plan." This resulted in a $4,685.70 increase in the orginal bill.

—The Republican report also treats as routine the installation of an exhaust fan in the fireplace of the President's San Clemente den. Not mentioned is a memo from the secretary to President Nixon's attorney, Herb Kalmbach, reporting that the Secret Service had agreed to "pay off the installation of the fireplace fan after I informed him (the agent in charge) that it defnitely was placed for security reason and how would he like it if you know who was aspixiated (sic)."

—The GOP version doesn't make clear that the taxpayers shelled out $5,300 for the installation and purchase of 13 lanterns to light and beautify the presidential grounds. Four are still being stored in a warehouse.

—The two versions disagree over a $1,666.90 bill which presidential crony Robert Abplanalp submitted to the GSA for repairs and painting on houses in the President's Key Biscayne compound. The Brooks report notes that "nothing in GSA's records indicates under what authority Mr. Abplanalp had acted in contracting for work for which GSA assumed responsiblity."

The undoing of William Shockley

After the Yale Political Union had disinvited the William Shockley act, the school's Young Americans for Freedom (YAF) chapter arranged for this brilliant amateur geneticist to present his views on black inferiority. Since YAF is a right-wing organization, you might think it was sponsoring Shockley's views; but no, it claimed to be exposing him to the withering confutations of the Right.

Eugene Meyer, the young man who arranged the debate, explained to me that this was the true way to undo Shockley. He would bring in the publisher of "National Review," William Rusher, to prove that even if Shockey were right, he would be wrong (i.e., non-conservative) — not Right, however right.

How would that work? Well, by saying that even if the blacks are inferior, they should not be eliminated. The true conservative conserves even less worthy races.

Somehow, that offer to undo the racist threat of Shockley did not quite grab the Yalies where they live. When the debate was announced, people dissolved into laughter at the billing of racist Shockley as the liberal, to be debated by the conservative Rusher. If you liked semi-fascism, you'll love the real thing.

Our ideological language is all askew in America anyway, and these things are relative. I suppose the aristocratic German generals who tried to assassinate Hitler were conservatives by contrast with the radical schemes of Hitler; but Hitler was the conservative in terms of authoritarianism.

Anyway, the Yalies defied University warnings that there should be no disturbance by calling for a clap-in, to applaud and cheer and laugh at Shockley's first appearance so he could never go on. They brought it off, bless them, and so did not have to listen as William Rusher both blessed and quibbled with our leading racist.

William Buckley, in his newspaper column, assures us Shockley would have been "slaughtered" by Rusher, but he must forgive us if we do not believe him. Buckley gives the game away when he describes the subject for debate as "the whole business of Negro psychometric inferiority and what should be done about it." Imagine debating the existence of unicorns and what we should do with them. Buckley, like Rusher, grants the dubious and distasteful part of the debate — what most people want to challenge — to promise a rescue at some later line of opposition to Shockley.

And what is this line? Right-Wing opposition to big government. Rusher assures us he would have argued that the government has no right to interfere with people's breeding habits, no matter how dumb they are — so Shockley's eugenic schemes are immoral.

Unfortunately, the Right-Wing's opposition to Big Brother is very spotty these days. I last saw Rusher on TV defending the recent Supreme Court decision that turns every bank into a branch office of the FBI for snooping on its own depositors; and his magazine just loved the John Mitchell Justice Department's way of spying on, tapping, harassing, or framing Black Panthers and white priests.

Besides, what if Shockley proposes a system of bonuses and voluntary incentives? "National Review" has proposed government bounties in law enforcement matters, and government reparation to victims of crimes. Big Brother is all right if he works on the capitalist instincts.

For that matter, the incentives could come from private philanthropists or by popular subscription. No big government involved at all. A racism of the private sector. This neat package of prejudice and free enterprise might constitute an offer much of the Right-Wing constituency could not refuse. That is why, when the pals of John Mitchell come along and promise to rescue us from William Shockley, we should politely say, "Thanks — but no thanks." And start clapping.

LETTERS FROM P-B READERS

As others see it . . . letters

Eroding happiness

The Ontario City Council has done their part in eroding the "pursuit of happiness" concept for hundreds of thousands of young Americans by refusing to allow another rock concert at OMS. The decision was made after hearing from law enforcement officials and sixty young people (approximately 1-4000 of the rock fans that attended the last concert.) It was a fair debate undoubtedly.

Ontario Police Chief Lee Kolbreck and W. C. Jones of the C.H.P. cited several reasons for not permitting another concert. 1) several minor violations of city, county and state laws, 2) traffic snarls, and 3) lack of sanitary facilities. These problems are part of daily life in any city with a population of 250,000, but intolerable if it is part of a youthful free spirit. Deputy District Attorney Kenneth Kloepfer went as far as to say that rock concerts are simply, "A sanctuary for people to come in and commit crimes." A statement that defies comment.

The Ontario Police Officers' Association has voted not to work at any other rock concerts, and Chief Kolbreck said, "it would be impossible for law enforcement agencies to guarantee no reoccurrence of violations . . ." Are the police voting where and when they will work and is the chief handing out guarantees against crime?

The concert was considered an overwhelming success by those in attendance, the promoters, local rock radio, and thousands that were unable to attend — yet Ontario refuses to permit another. Ontario must feel that anything in excess is bad . . . even fun! — L. Stapleton, Claremont.

Gossip for today

For some of us senior citizens the next 10 years will undoubtedly constitute the most frustrating decade in our lifetimes. — First it has been announced that there may be a 10-year delay in air pollution clean-up in Los Angeles. However, far more nerve wracking to us oldsters who are striving desperately to eke out a few more years is that news item describing a new drug which may extend life expectancy to 200 years. — BUT, and this is the supreme frustration, it was further announced that it won't be tried out on human beings for another 10-years.

Mashing the state on the front page

"Hello; yes, this is the city desk. Who? Oh, yes, sir, of course. Just a minute.

"Chief, stop the presses. It's an official spokesman for the Ecumenical Crank Hordes Army. You know, ECHA, the ones whose symbol is the 11-headed duck-billed platypus.

"Right sir, we'll take down your statement word-for-word. The editor is already opening up a spot for you on page one. You know how we're always ready to recognize really significant groups in the society like yours. It's too bad we won't be able to run the stories about the new cure of cancer and the world-wide peace pact but we know how important you are. Now what's your announcement?

"Hey chief; get this. Generalissimo Klabotnik here says the ECHA has kidnapped the whole state of Idaho and they are holding them for ransom until every left-handed American is issued a free-left handed scissors and ladle. ECHA is condemning what they call the 'underhanded, backhanded, disarming tactics of the right-handed Establishment oppressors.' And they say that unless their demands are met, the entire population of Idaho will be buried alive in mashed potatoes.

"What's that sir? Oh, no, of course that wasn't a note of doubt you heard creeping in my voice. Just admiration for the fine liberating job you and Ultra-General O'Brien and Supremo Credibilitti are doing here. By the way, can you give us some idea of how many members ECHA has at the present time, just in round millions?

"What's that? Twenty-nine? Wow, 29 million . . . No, not 29 million, just plain 29? And that includes 11 dogs and cats? Well, no, naturally that doesn't take away from the seriousness of your cause at all. We here at the Bugle and the news media all around the country obviously consider you to be as important a political force as China, the United Nations, South Carolina or even Kuwait.

"Perhaps you could outline for us the basic goals and ideals of ECHA as well as its history. We might want to devote the whole paper to it, in fact.

"Ah, I see. You don't quite have your goals and ideals drawn up yet because Minister of Information Schultz is still busy looking for good ideas in the second hand paperback library he got at a rummage sale last week. Well, sure, we can wait for that.

"For right now you're going to content to demand network television to make an address to the nation? Sure, I can check that.

"Chief, the Generalissimo wants to make sure he schedules his addresses so he won't miss the rerun of 'My Little Margie.' Seven? Great.

"Did you get that sir? Yes, I know that is a little after your usual bedtime and all . . . Say, is it true that you're only 11 years old?

"Why, no, no, of course that doesn't mean anything. What? A note of skepticism creeping into my voice? Me, not take you seriously? Cross my heart, Generalissimo, it never entered my mind."

Traffic safety study recommended

CLAREMONT — A study to improve visibility at Indian Hill Boulevard and Harrison Avenue and possibly to straighten out the Indian Hill curve has been recomended by the city Traffic Safety Committee.

The committee expects to receive a report at its June 10 meeting. Residents in the neighborhood will be invited to attend the meeting.

The committee had received a request for stops signs at all four corners of the intersections after two Claremont drivers became involved in an accident.

Public Works Director Paul Cook recommended against the four-way stop, saying there have been no accidents at that intersection within the past year which are "correctible" by four-way stop signs.

Cook stressed that Indian Hill carries 15,000 cars a day, while Harrison has only about 1,500 a day.

He also cited the sight problems created by the sharp curves and the Mallows Park wall, which recently was refaced after an earlier accident.

He recommended that the help of the city Parks and Recreation Commission be enlisted in proving the sight problem.

Industry city manager dislikes 'puffery'

INDUSTRY — Jerry Brown is glad to have left the world of "puffery" even though he acknowledges there may be a selling job to do here.

Brown, 27, Industry's new acting city manager, is an ex-public relations man who dislikes "puffing up athletes" at UC Irvine.

He hopes to become the permanent city manager here after a six-month probationary" period.

Brown replaces Graham Ritchie, who remains as city attorney and executive director of the Industry Redevelopment Agency.

Formerly a senior administrative assistant with the city of Cerritos, Brown says his experience as an ombudsman there will help in Industry. Handling citizen complaints always has been part of the job here, he admits.

Brown, who is being trained for his job by Robert Rope, city manager for 13 years here, hopes to see the city move ahead.

"We want to make sure Industry remains an industrially-oriented city, but that it progresses as society does "The city cannot remain stagnant," he said.

Brown is no stranger to the city, either. His family has operated the El Encanto Convalescent Home here since 1946, and he lived on the property himself, as a child, for eight years.

Married and the father of two daughters, Brown received a bachelor's degree in communications and master's in public administration from Cal State Fullerton.

JERRY BROWN

He planned to enter the public relations field as a career, but decided later he didn't like it, so switched to municipal administration.

There may be some "smoothing over" to do regarding citizen reaction to Industry's plans, Brown admits, but he's used to it. For him, it's a welcome change.

Pomona mute's effort to help victim praised

POMONA — A deaf mute's attempts to help an elderly woman in trouble won official praise from both Mayor Ray J. Lepire and the Fire Department.

A certificate of appreciation for good citizenship from Fire Chief John M. Fowlkes was awarded to Jan Ross Simpson by Lepire at the City Council's meeting Monday.

Jan, a 14-year-old boy, was riding his bicycle on the Pomona Mall April 14 when he spotted the woman lying on the sidewalk in the 200 block of S. Locust Street.

Fowlkes said the woman apparently had been knocked down by someone who had stolen her purse.

Simpson rode his bicycle to the police department and reported the incident by writing on a note pad. Police called the Fire Department which dispatched rescue units.

Jan rode on a fire truck to direct the firemen to the scene. After a search of the area, fireman located 70-year-old Marie Bickel in the lobby of the Mayfair Hotel. She was treated there and declined further medical assistance.

Because of the circumstances involved, Lepire called Jan's efforts "heroic." Fowlkes said the boy's "outstanding" actions merited public notice.

Jan, who lives in a trailer park at 1111 E. Price St., is attending a special school for the deaf in Riverside.

American premiere

Pomona College to stage Rozewicz' 'Card Game'

CLAREMONT — Pomona College Theater will present the American premiere of "The Card Game," by Polish playwright Tadeus Rozewicz, in Holmes Hall for 10 performances starting May 9.

The play, first presented in 1960 in Warsaw, will be directed by Jan Skotnicki, vice-rector of the Warsaw Theater, who is currently teaching the advanced acting studio and the directing studio at Pomona College. The local production is under the general direction of David N. Flaten, assistant professor of theater arts and acting director of the theater.

It is the story of a middle-aged man (perhaps the author himself) in whose life the audience may try to find a moral outline of contemmporary life.

Rosewicz, a poet and playwright who represents the post-war generation, is one of Poland's outstanding writers. His early youth passed during the war time with all its experiences of underground partisan fighting, of disillusionments toward human nature and cultural tradition.

While Rozewicz is the author of several other works, "The Card Index" remains his most popular play.

Since its first presentation, the play has been staged in many major and small Polish theaters, and a recent production was presented at the National Theater in Warsaw. It has been translated into several languages, and has been produced successfully in a number of European theaters.

Skotnicki, one of Poland's outstanding directors, has presented more than 30 theater productions and about 20 television and radio theater shows throughout Poland. With his student and professional productions, he has toured Yugoslavia, France and Italy, and in 1971 visited the United States with a group of students to perform at the Kennedy Center in Washington, as guests of the American College Theater Festival.

Skotnicki will speak at a convocation at 11 a.m. Tuesday, about Polish theater and some of his observations about the theater in the United States.

Performances of "The Card Index" will be presented on May 9 and 16, at 8 p.m. and on May 10, 11, 17 and 18 at 8 and 10 p.m. Admission is $1 for students, $1.50 for faculty and staff, and $2.50 for general admission. Tickets and information may be obtained at Bridges Auditorium box office, 626-4523.

MEETIN' & EATIN' at BETSY ROSS

Hi, Neighbors,

Perhaps you have noticed that our factory store at 969 E. Holt Ave. has been closed for a complete remodeling. After over twenty years in that location . . . it was about time. Seating will be increased, and it will be set up more efficiently to serve you better. We are hopeful of being open again on Friday, May 3rd. Meanwhile, our Pomona Valley Center Coffee Shoppe is just a few blocks away for your convenience.

Certainly did appreciate a letter from MRS. ROBERT CROWE thanking us for advertising in the Christian Science Monitor. She wrote in part, "Last Monday evening we had a skit for the membership meeting at our Church in Pomona and used our Sunday School students for the skit. The purpose of the skit was to promote all local advertisers, and my daughter played the part of the Betsy Ross waitress. The play was a huge success." . . . Our waitress, MARIE CRAWFORD, was delighted to lend her hat for the performance so that your daughter would really look the part. We also welcome your Girl Scout Troop 799 at the Claremont Coffee Shoppe when they come in for ice cream once a month.

By the way, don't forget to bring the kids in every Monday for their free American flags.

Watchin' the ole waistline? We have a delicious Hi Protein Plate just for you. We broil the patty of beef to your order and serve it with cottage cheese, tomatoes, and pineapple for just $1.65.

Graham plans Hollywood Bowl services Sept. 19-21

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Billy Graham plans to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the start of his success as an evangelist with a celebration at the Hollywood Bowl Sept. 19-21.

Graham appeared at a news conference recently to announce the plans.

Proceeds from the gathering will go to "alleviate human suffering throughout the world," a spokesman said.

Graham recalled that in 1949 he was preaching in a tent in downtown Los Angeles, and noticed one night that there were many reporters in the audience.

"Someone informed me, 'You have just been kissed by William Randolph Hearst'," Graham said. The powerful publisher had attended one of his revival sessions and then told his editors to "puff Graham," the evangelist said. The resulting publicity packed the 6,000-seat tent.

"I preach the same gospel today that I did then," he said.

Nixon quotes Abe Lincoln

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon ended his recent speech on Watergate by quoting Abraham Lincoln.

Nixon said he would continue in office with the same spirit "perhaps best summed up a century ago by another president, when he was being subjected to unmerciful attack."

The quote Nixon chose was:

"I do the very best I know how —the very best I can; and I mean to keep doing so until the end. If the end brings me out all right, what is said against me won't amount to anything. If the end brings me out wrong, 10 angels swearing I was right would make no difference."

MGM to release musical scenes

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The vultures still flap over the carcass of MGM, once the mightiest studio of them all, and have plucked a last morsel from the colossus.

The men who run the remnants of the studio have plundered its archives to produce "That's Entertainment," a collection of scenes from MGM's greatest musicals interspersed with appearances by some of the stars who still survive.

Movie buffs, the young who hear such exciting names as Ginger Rogers and wonder what she did and music-lovers will find the film enchanting.

It also is sad.

"That's Entertainment" will be released through United Artists because MGM doesn't even have a distribution arm any more—symptomatic of the crises the dying studio is encountering.

Just as dismaying is the hollow trumpeting by studio caretakers describing the picture as a "celebration of M G M 's golden anniversary."

There is nothing to celebrate. MGM lives in the past.

But what a past! Fred Astaire, Bing Crosby, Gene Kelly, Peter Lawford, Liza Minnelli, Donald O'Connor, Debbie Reynolds, Mickey Rooney, Frank Sinatra, James Stewart and Elizabeth Taylor introduce the various film clips from unforgettable musicals.

There is Judy Garland in "The Wizard of Oz," Gene Kelly in "Singin' in the Rain," Esther Williams in a dozen swimming pools, June Allyson, Leslie Caron, Eleanor Powell, Ann Miller, Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy singing "The Indian Love Call."

And more: Mario Lanza and Kathryn Grayson, Ava Gardner, Van Johnson, Cyd Charisse, Maurice Chevalier, Margaret O'Brien, Jimmy Stewart and Clark Gable in the only song and dance act of his career.

More than any studio, MGM was noted for its distinctive musicals. Under the leadership of Louis B. Mayer the MGM motto was "Do it big, do it right and give it class."

And so it was with "Show Boat," "Gigi," "American in Paris," "Ziegfeld Follies," "Seven Bridges for Seven Brothers," "Anchors Aweigh."

But Mayer was followed by men of diminished talents. Modern economics made impossible the casts of virtually thousands of extras in musical extravaganzas.

Public demand for realism extinguished the technicolor world of carefree singing and dancing without social comment.

Even during the depression of the '30s and the grim realities of World War II the MGM musicals maintained their innocence and elan.

A shocking element of "That's Entertainment" is watching the stars age down through the years: Rooney as a child of 10 contrasted with the fat, balding little man who appears in the film today; teenage Elizabeth Taylor, now a matron, skinny young Sinatra transformed to pudgy middle age.

MGM doesn't make musicals anymore, but "That's Entertainment" is a document of a time and place that is unique in the history of song and dance.

Art show being held on La Verne campus

LA VERNE — An exhibtion of art by Lucille Forwalter of Upland, a senior art major at La Verne College, is on display through Sunday at the library, student center and Davenport Dining Hall. She is enrolled in the LVCapa Program for Mature Adults.

The show includes oils, charcoal drawings, pen and ink sketches, oil-crayon, pencil and acrylic works, all completed under the supervision of Joella Mahoney, associate professor of art.

Mrs. Forwalter, the mother of three teenage children, began her college education more than 20 years ago at the University of Denver, where she completed one year of study. Since that time, she has taken many courses in art and related subjects, but it wasn't until last fall that she began concentrated work towards her degree at La Verne.

Her current works, all completed this year, are being presented as her senior thesis. Mrs. Forwalter will graduate in June.

The students have been attending Mrs. Miller's classes for a year. Mrs. Bailey took painting classes in school. Mrs. Vaughn was self-taught before enrolling in the recration department classes.

Jazz concert a hit at Pomona College

By MAE TATE

CLAREMONT — The jazz concert culminating the first annual Black Music Festival of the Claremont Colleges this weekend added the necessary zing to a successful day of entertainment events.

Esther Phillips, Ujima and Freddie Hubbard electrified a nearly packed house at Bridges Auditorium. The performances and coordination by Black Studies Center director James Garrett and Claremont Men's College students Tommie Jackson and Cornell Ridley were smooth and professional. The only disappointment of the evening was the no-show by Bobby Hutcherson, innovative vibraphonist, whose vibes were lost by an airline company.

Ujima's sound was both soothing and energetic, giving out jazz beats that make one's head sway softly from side to side or move at a rhythmic pace.

Ndugu, the drummer, was a driving force of impromptu perfection. He did magical things with sticks and skins. Trumpeter Oscar Brasheroy was strong and clear in his piercing notes while saxophonist Ernie Watts offered a contrast of syncopated velvet softness.

Ujima takes one to the roots. The group has true genius when the individuals present inspiring solos yet can come together and create synonymous tones and moods.

Esther, attired in a blazing yellow, sharply tailored pant suit, evoked the greatest enthusiasm from the audience. "Alone Again Naturally" began the raspy elegance that is the distinctive style of this veteran songstress.

As she moved into an old jump tune, she demonstrated the talent of an accomplished pianist. "And I Love Him" was sensuously purred; while "You Can't Trust a Neighbor with Your Baby" was funky gut-bucket blues. "If You Don't Do It, Somebody Else Will" combined the sounds of London's Picadilly Square and American soul. "This Bitter Earth," a Dinah Washington standard, left the audience hushed and subdued.

Hubbard, charming in powder blue outfit with jaunty white cap, filled Bridges with a clear, brassy sound. He picked the audience up and never put it back down.

Hubbard's performance automatically established rhythm patterns that make your whole body move. His trumpet is wild and ecstatic, but precise.

The only criticism that can be levied is not against the show-persons or organizers, but against the attitude of some about a fundraising extravaganza to provide scholarship monies for present and potential black students at the Claremont Colleges. There were several gripes about the reasonable price of the concert and a dance following. The complaints about the latter were numerous enough to result in a reduction of admission from $1 to 50 cents).

Pan-American Ensemble set at MSAC

WALNUT — The Elizabeth Waldo Pan-American Ensemble will perform music of Mexico and Central and South America in concerts in the Social Science Center of Mt. San Antonio College at 10 and 11:15 a.m. Saturday.

This is the final program of the Children's Theater Series offered by MSAC's Community Services. Admission is 25 cents.

The ensemble members will perform on authentic instruments of the Aztec, Maya, Inca and other Indian civilizations as well as on violin, flute, guitar, bass and marimba.

Fuel crisis caused by misinformation

HOUSTON (UPI) — Misguided and misinformed politicians are to blame for the fuel crisis, according to George P. Mitchell, head of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association.

The president of the largest state group of independent oil men in the nation said political leaders misinformed the public by saying petroleum imports would keep the price of oil down.

"But there is no free lunch oil from abroad—neither cheap nor plentiful — and government, again led by misguided and misinformed political leaders, has maintained the wellhead prices of natural gas at such low levels that the amount of exploration has decreased at least 50 per cent in the past 15 years," he said.

LET'S ASK THE COOK

by Nan Wiley

DEAR NAN:

Quite some time ago you gave a recipe for an old-fashioned cooked dressing you said had been used in your family for many years. It was great, one of those just-right recipes and we especially like it for potato salad.

Then, one evening I took the card from the file box and put it out to remind myself to make the dressing next morning for expected company. I inserted it in a little crack in the cabinet work space. Suddenly it dropped and disappeared behind the cabinet. The only way to get it would be to remove the cabinets and no husband thinks any recipes is worth that.

My hope is that you will print the recipe again. Believe me, it will be handled most carefully from now on. Mrs. P.R. Petersen, CHARLOTTE N.C.

Now who could resist a hard luck story like that? I must admit I howled. I could imagine your horror and the utter futility of it all. That recipe hasn't had an encore since back in 1970, so here it is. It's easy and cheap.

In a saucepan combine 3 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon prepared mustard. Stir in ½ cup vinegar, blend until smooth. Then add ½ cup (each) of sugar and water. Boil until thick. Take from heat, carefully blend in 2 eggs, a little at a time, beating quickly. Blend in ¼ cup whipped commercial mayonnaise or, lacking that, ¼ cup undiluted evaporated milk. I always made a double batch so I would have enough for sandwiches or garden-fresh tomatoes.

Some of you are having problems with the Harvey Wallbanger cake recipe I gave. One reader thought there should be no sugar. The first time I make anything I always do the recipe as given to me. I had no trouble, beyond maybe a little longer baking time. I have made it again without the sugar and that works okay, too. It occurs to me there may be a difference in cake and pudding mixes, two important ingredients, so to play it safe omit the sugar. That makes the ingredients 1 package yellow cake mix, 1 package vanilla instant pudding mix, ½ cup cooking oil, 4 eggs, ¼ cup vodka, ¼ cup Galliano, ¾ cup orange juice. Bake at 350 for 45 to 50 minutes.

I always use large eggs for baking, especially when there is no other leavening. No there is not, as one reader suggested, too much liquid, but for one poor soul there was. She made up the complete pudding as per package directions, then added all that. No, No, No!

All sorts of things seem to be going wrong with all kinds of recipes (besides mine) these days. They worked fine last year, now they don't. In most cases I have no idea why.

Nan Wiley regrets that she cannot provide personal answers to your cooking questions, but questions of general interst will be answered in her column. Address your questions to Nan Wiley in care of Progress-Bulletin, Register and Tribune Syndicate, 715 Locust St., Des Moines, Iowa, 50304.

Color cures

If you're thinking of coloring your hair, here is some of the latest information on the subject. Red hair, colorists report, is becoming very popular. Many specialists like warm brown hair with blond dappling and many men and women don't care for all-one-color blonding that is popular with older women.

Dodgers, Mets in 8-7 rut

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES — Considering what has happened in the first two games of the Dodgers-Mets series, it would be best not to leave tonight's series finale early if either team gets a big lead.

Two big names — Cy Young Award winner Tom Seaver of the Mets and Andy Messersmith of the Dodgers — will be on the mound tonight to close the Dodgers' exciting 12-game homestand.

In the first two battles, the two teams have traded 8-7 victories. The Dodgers held on to win Monday after enjoying an 8-0 lead after two innings and it was practically the same story Tuesday in reverse.

Only Los Angeles managed to tie the score at 6-6 in the eighth inning on Steve Garvey's 400-foot three-run homer before finally losing to the Mets on John Milner's two-run double in the ninth on the first pitch from relief ace Mike Marshall.

New York belted Dodger starter Tommy John, who was bidding to become the first pitcher in modern baseball history — since 1900 — to win six games in April, for six runs and seven hits in five innings for a big 6-0 cushion.

But John (5-0) remains undefeated thanks to his teammates' ability to bounce back. The loss went to Jim Brewer, who gave up singles to Felix Millan and Cleon Jones in the ninth.

Milner greeted Marshall with a double over rightfielder Willie Crawford's head for the winning runs.

The Dodgers weren't dead yet.

Bill Russell opened the bottom half of the ninth by hitting a triple down the rightfield foul line. Pinch-hitter Manny Mota struck out but Russell scored when third baseman Wayne Garrett made a throwing error on Davey Lopes' infield grounder.

Veteran Bob Miller was in trouble but he retired Tom Paciorek on a fly to right. Bill Buckner singled to send Lopes, the tying run, to third but Ron Cey flied to center for the final out to give Miller, an original Met, his first victory for New York in 12 years.

The loss cuts the Dodgers' lead in the National League West to 3½ games over Houston and snapped L.A.'s seven-game win streak.

But the Dodgers would be delighted if the rest of the season resembles April. They compiled a 17-6 record in the first month for a percentage of .739, the best since moving to California in 1958.

"John wasn't sharp tonight with his control," Dodger skipper Walt Alston said. "8-7 seems to be the magic number."

New York starter Jerry Koosman, who hasn't won at Dodger Stadium since 1968, was sailing along until the late innings.

The Dodgers made it 6-2 in the sixth inning when Lopes walked, Paciorek tripled and Cey hit a sacrifice fly. L.A. added another run in the seventh on Russell's third home run of the campaign.

Lopes ignited the Dodgers in the eighth when he walked to second base. Given a free pass to first by Koosman to open the eighth, Lopes suddenly took off for second base as he caught the Mets napping.

Cey was hit by a Koosman pitch after Paciorek and Jim Wynn were retired to set the stage for Garvey's dramatic home run, which brought the 24,049 fans to their feet.

But the Mets came back.

"I hit a screwball which Marshall got up high," Milner said. "It's good to win the game after blowing a big lead."

"We just never do things the easy way," Miller agreed.

DODGER DATA — After tonight's game, the Dodgers hit the road for Philadelphia, Montreal and San Diego . . .

Alston said Wynn and catcher Joe Ferguson would rest tonight. Wynn hurt his right elbow in throwing out Don Hahn at the plate in the second inning. Ferguson went 0-for-4 as his slump continues . . .

Tuesday's game was the first this season in which the Dodgers never led . . .

Willie Mays is the first player to accept an invitation to play in the Oldtimers Game on June 23.

Garvey claims Rozelle acted irresponsibly

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The executive director of the National Football League Players Association says Commissioner Pete Rozelle acted irresponsibly when he fined eight San Diego Charger players for alleged drug use without a hearing before an impartial arbitrator.

Ed Garvey, the NFLPA executive director, urged the players not to pay the fines and said the association would not sign a new contract with the league without a clause to protect players against such abuses.

Calling Rozelle's action "McCarthyism at its best," Garvey told a news conference Tuesday the NFLPA has listed 57 demands it wants in its new contract, but that the league has not yet replied.

"Pete Rozelle does not understand the meaning of due process," Garvey said. "Rozelle makes up the rules without consulting the players, hires a private police force to enforce those rules, determines who should be investigated and sits and listens to hearsay evidence and unsupported allegations against players.

"Rozelle then acts as grand jury, prosecutor, judge, jury and appellate court. Most important, he can destroy a person's career by simply stating publicly that the player is guilty."

Impartial arbitrators are used in other sports leagues to settle disputes, but in the NFL all appeals from Rozelle decisions go right back to Rozelle himself for a ruling, Garvey said.

Last Friday Rozelle fined Charger General Manager Harland Svare and eight players a total of $20,000 and the San Diego club another $20,000 for alleged use of drugs during training camp and also during the regular season. Svare and the players also were placed on probation.

Garvey said he had no indication of "illegal" use of drugs by any of the Chargers and certainly no use of any "hard drugs" such as heroin or cocaine.

Bucks' adjustment effective

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—There were a lot of doubters hanging around the Milwaukee Arena who conceded the National Basketball Association title to Boston on the basis of the Celtics' 98-83 win in the first game of the championship series against the Bucks.

They heard Larry Costello, the Milwaukee coach, talk about doing something to counter the Boston pressure defense. Costello talked about making a "minor adjustment" and many experts scoffed at the idea.

But game two opened Tuesday night and Costello's "adjustment" was unveiled.

It resulted in a 105-96 Milwaukee overtime win to even the best-of-seven series at one game each.

The adjustment itself consisted of getting the ball to Oscar Robertson, then sending the other four players up court and letting Robertson bring the ball up by himself.

"That was a good move," Robertson said. "It enabled us to get into our patterns quicker."

"That adjustment was the key to the ball game," Bucks assistant coach Hubie Brown said. "A lot of people said you can't make an adjustment to beat the press but I guess we showed them."

The end result of the Costello move was to enable the Bucks to build a big enough lead so that Milwaukee could stand off the most furious Celtics rally. The big margin was needed, too, as Boston came back to force an overtime.

With 11 seconds left and the score 90-90, Dave Cowens had the ball at the top of the free throw circle. He drove to the basket to his right and leaped in the air, the ball held high in his right hand.

He released a little hook shot from only three feet away and the ball headed toward the basket. But Kareem Abdul Jabbar soared well into the rafters of the Milwaukee Arena to gently tap the ball to the floor where Ron Williams picked it up and the game went into overtime.

In the extra period, with the score 98-96, Cornell Warner became a hero.

The Bucks took the ball inbounds from midcourt and were set to run a play for Robertson.

But Warner took the pass, noticed the lane was open and sped down the center of it, skied high above the basket and dunked the ball. He was fouled by Dave Cowens and made the free throw, giving the Bucks a five-point lead with only 34 seconds left.

"I saw the lane clear and just headed for it with everything I had," Warner said of his big shot.

Abdul-Jabbar, who led all scorers with 36 points, played as if in a frenzy in the closing minutes and he admitted the pressure was on the Bucks to win the game.

"It definitely was a big win for us," he said. "We couldn't go to Boston two down. That would be a very difficult thing for us to come back from."

While the Bucks were overjoyed with the win, Boston Coach Tommy Heinsohn, wasn't too disappointed with the end result.

"Look," he said, "I feel proud we came here and won the first game in good style and took them to overtime in the second game. We didn't play our best game tonight and they played very well."

The series now shifts to Boston for the third and fourth games Friday night and Sunday. The fifth game will be in Milwaukee Tuesday night.

Nolan Ryan off, on same night

BOSTON (UPI) — How is it that Nolan Ryan can pitch so poorly and still come up diamonds?

The 24-year-old Texan gave up six runs on six hits, walked seven and hit two batters. But he offset his failings with a season-high 15 strikeouts and his California Angel teammates came up with oodles of runs in a 16-6 trouncing of the slumping Boston Red Sox.

"My fast ball was the best it's been this years," drawled Ryan, "but I struggled a lot out there. I don't like taking more than three days rest. It hurts my rhythm."

Ryan was erratic from the first inning when he hit Boston second baseman Doug Griffin behind the left ear and Carl Yastrzemski on the ankle.

Griffin, knocked unconscious, was taken off the field on a stretcher. He was under observation in intensive care at Hahnemann Hospital. He suffered a severe concussion but received no fracture.

"I was really worried about Ryan coming unglued after hitting Griffin and then Yastrzemski," said Angel Manager Bobby Winkles. "Boston did get two runs in the first but he got himself settled down."

Ryan stayed with his fastball almost the whole route and had trouble putting it over the plate on occasion. But when he found his target, he had Boston's batters swinging at empty air.

Rico Petrocelli, back in the lineup as the designated hitter, fanned four times. Cecil Cooper struck out in his first four attempts before homering in the ninth, driving in Boston's final two runs.

Red Sox Manager Darrell Johnson was satisfied with his team's offensive showing but expressed frustration with another facet of Boston's game.

"Our pitching put us out of the game tonight," said Johnson. "Anytime you score six runs off Nolan Ryan, you're doing something well. (Reggie) Cleveland didn't throw the ball well at all. (Diego) Segui and (Lance) Clemons just couldn't pull it back together to give us time to catch up. We didn't close enough to really cause Ryan any trouble."

Bob Oliver was top Angel in the RBI department with four on three hits. "This game here and one in Baltimore were the best I've hit on the road trip," Oliver said.

The Red Sox, now 10-12, will try to make a move back toward .500 ball today when Bill Lee goes against California's Bill Stoneman in the last game of their series here. Rick Burleson will take Griffin's place on the roster.

Campbell earns weekly award

BOSTON (UPI) — Bill Campbell, a product of Pomona's Ganesha High and Mt. San Antonio College, of the Minnesota Twins has been selected the American League's Player of the Week.

Campbell, a relief pitcher, was honored after he earned the victory in a 1-0 win over Detroit and his sixth save in Sunday's 6-5 win over Milwaukee.

Boston Bruins in finals

CHICAGO (UPI) — A puck that bounced "like a pinball machine" put the Boston Bruins into the finals for hockey's prized Stanley Cup for the third time in five years.

Gregg Sheppard put an end to 14 minutes of growing tension Tuesday night when he rattled the puck between Chicago goalie Tony Esposito's pads for the winning score with 1:49 to play. It took off the pressure and set up another goal, into an empty net, 33 seconds later by Phil Esposito to give the Bruins a 4-2 victory and a 4-2 series triumph over the Black Hawks.

"It was a tough angle and I was hoping to hit the net and maybe get a rebound," Sheppard said. "I was lucky. I kept it low and it went right between his legs like a pinball machine back and forth and finally dribbled into the net."

It was Sheppard's ninth goal in 10 playoff games and his coach, Bep Guidolin, said it was not unexpected.

"Sheppard's got a lot of talent," he said. "It was a matter of time. I expect a good series from him in the playoffs and we finally got him a good line.

"We've got three well-balanced lines. The (Andre) Savard line played well, too. you've got to have three lines going in the playoffs and we've had them the last half of the season."

Savard's line contributed the first two Boston goals, both by Don Marcotte in less than a five-minute span in the second period which pulled the Bruins from behind to a 2-1 lead.

But Hawk rookie Len Frig produced a tie with a power play score at 4:18 of the last period and that put the pressure on both teams to win and avoid an overtime.

"Frig made a good play," Boston goalie Gilles Gilbert said. "But I was so glad Sheppard scored that goal and particularly Phil Esposito. After he scored, I was not feeling tired anymore."

Guidolin said the Bruins "played well the last four games," including three straight victories over the Hawks. "But Chicago is a good club and they gave us all they had," he said.

Flyers enjoy 3-2 edge thanks to three stars

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Tom Bladon, Bernie Parent and Rick MacLeish did in the New York Rangers Tuesday night.

The trio combined their talents for a 4-1 Philadelphia win at the Spectrum that left the Rangers down three games to two in their Stanley Cup semifinal series.

Some may argue luck also was involved. Instead of the National Anthem, Flyers officials opened the game with Kate Smith's recording of "God Bless America," a number played only before important games that has proved lucky for Philadelphia in the past; lucky to the tune of 34 wins, three losses and a tie.

Parent, Bladon and MacLeish, the leading scorer in the playoffs, took it from there.

"Parent turned the game around," said Rangers' Coach Emile Francis. "He was the key. He held the fort for them. We failed to capitalize on the opportunities we had early. Twice we had two-on-one situations and three times, three-on-one but Parent came up with the key saves."

New York's Peter Stemkowski beat Parent from in tight at 6:16 of the opening period, scoring a goal that appeared to put a damper on the Flyers and the sellout crowd.

But a second period goal by defenseman Bladon, who filled in for injured Barry Ashbee, got the Flyers even and Philadelphia was off and running.

Bladon, a soft-spoken, secondyear man, said his goal at 6:49 of the period didn't ignite the Flyers' rally, claiming "we were coming on anyway at that time."

SAL prelims have quality, not quantity

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

UPLAND — With most of the varsity events passing up the preliminaries, the San Antonio League held its league track prelims Tuesday afternoon at Upland High.

Of the 17 running events which went through qualifications, only three were on the varsity level.

But those three came up with some stunning performances.

The finals will be held at Upland High Friday night at 7 p.m., with all varsity running and field events being the feature attractions.

On a windy Highlander track, Montclair's Gerard Bryant and Chino's Jayson Law produced the biggest surprises.

Bryant got things going in the first of two heats of the 100 yard dash by hitting the finish tape in a wind-aided 9.7 seconds. Then Law, only a sophomore, won the second heat in 9.8 seconds.

The other two varsity events which went through qualifications included the 440 yard run and the 220 yard sprint.

Chino's Don Cossey, who also qualified in the 100, captured first place in his heat of the 440 with a winning time of 53.0 seconds. Then Montclair's Filbert Gonzales topped that with a 50.8 win in the second heat.

Law, after his victory in the 100, came back to win the second heat of the varsity 220 in a time of 22.3 seconds. Prior to that, Pomona's Garry Honest copped the first heat in 23.2 seconds.

There was supposed to have been two heats in the varsity 180 low hurdles, but only nine hurdlers registered for the event. So the officials at the prelims decided to pass up the prelims and just run the event on the final day.

The varsity field events will hold the prelims and finals Friday night, but the junior varsity and frosh-soph finals in the field events were held Tuesday.

The three field events champions in both of the lower divisions will automatically advance to the CIF 3-A Prelims on May 11 at Millikan High.

All four of the junior varsity field event league records were topped during Tuesday's prelims, while two of the frosh-soph marks took a tumble.

Mounties go after track crown

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — With the Mt. San Antonio Relays behind them, the valley junior college and college track teams will prepare for the individual showdowns.

Except for Mt. San Antonio College.

The Mounties, having finished second in the South Coast Conference dual meet season, will be shooting for the SCC championships. In the SCC a dual meet champion and team titlist in the championships are recognized.

"We'll definitely be going after the championship," said MSAC head track coach Don Ruh. "We usually don't do as well in the championships as we do in the dual meets, though. I think it'll be between us and Fullerton."

Fullerton won the dual meet title this year for the first time since the formation of the South Coast Conference. MSAC had won every dual meet title up to this year.

Mountie javelin thrower Dave Krogh, who broke the meet record in the junior college invitational javelin throw at the MSAC Relays, was named the junior college track athlete of the week Tuesday at the weekly valley track luncheon at the Castaway Restaurant in Pomona.

QUOTING THE COACHES:

Vince O'Boyle, Citrus — "We were shooting for a two mile relay win at the MSAC Relays, but something very strange happened. Ray Arnold, who had been suffering from shin splints the week prior to the Relays, came about 100 yards from finishing his leg of the relay when he suddenly looked as though he had been shot. He pulled up lame and so we didn't finish the race. It turned out he had a fatigue fracture of the tibia and is now wearing a cast on the leg.

As for the Mission Conference finals (which Citrus is hosting this week), we can't ask for more ideal weather. I've never seen our track in such good shape."

Chuck Hicks, Chaffey — "The MSAC Relays is a great meet, but we backed off a little there in order to get ready for the Mission Conference finals. We set a school record in the distance medley at the Relays. Most of our guys are uninjured, and we hope to come up with a mile relay win in the prelims and finals this week.

Scots near title, blank Cavs 2-0

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

UPLAND — A Herb Christian-coached Upland High baseball team has never won the San Antonio League title outright.

In 1968, '69 and '71 the Scots advanced to the CIF playoffs by virtue of having tied for the league crown. But they never were the sole possessor of first place.

This year, 1974 could be an historical year for Upland.

The Highlanders, behind the four-hit pitching of Steve Iles and Joe Zamudio, shut out their closest competitor, Montclair High, 2-0, Tuesday afternoon to take a two-game lead in the SAL standings with three games remaining.

The long-awaited rematch between the Scots and the Cavaliers produced what was expected, a low scoring pitcher's duel between Upland's Iles and Montclair's Brent Jetton.

The Scots, (16-4, 10-1) begged, borrowed, stole and squeezed their way for solo runs in the third and again in the sixth while the Cavs (12-7, 8-3) and Jetton were delegated to a role of frustration both in the field and at the plate, stranding nine runners.

Jetton's frustration also was shown at the plate. The Cavs' top hitter went 0-for-4 and had a foul ball lined off his ankle.

Jetton had the Scots well in hand until the frustrating third, allowing a harmless single to Tony Votaw, who wound up going three-for-three.

Jeff Martin doubled to deep left field to lead off the third. Iles then layed down a sacrifice bunt, advancing Martin to third. But Brown's throw to first pulled Tom Halseth off first, allowing Iles to get aboard.

Jetton then struck out Mark Schneekluth, but Dale Arneson dropped a perfect suicide squeeze bunt down the third base line to score Martin.

Steve Smith followed with a single to right, but Larry Wallace shot down Arneson trying to advance to third on the hit.

Smith, who went two-for-three, singled with one out in the sixth and Russ Feaster reached base on an error, Smith taking second. Following a fly out, Votaw hit a smash over the first base bag that Brown dove on and smothered. He hurried to his feet to try and make a play but realized that he didn't have the ball.

Smith, meanwhile, kept right on coming on the play and scored the final run of the game.

The Cavs' best threat occurred in the seventh when Pat Proulx, who wound up two-for-three, layed down a bunt single with one out. Jetton struck out for the second out.

Pittman then hit a deep drive to left-center that Schneekluth had bound off his glove when he lost it in the sun. Martin alertly backed up on the play and threw to third baseman Rich Phillips, who fired a strike to catcher Feaster, nailing Proulx at the plate to end the game.

Damien sixth sparkplug in see-saw win

LA VERNE — Pomona High scored five runs in the top of the sixth inning to take a temporary one run lead, but the Damien Spartans rallied for two runs in their half of the inning for an 8-7, come-from-behind victory in their San Antonio baseball contest Tuesday afternoon at Damien High.

The Spartans jumped quickly on Pomona pitching ace Mark Lambert for two runs in the home half of the first inning.

Damien got another marker in the third. With one out John Pignotti singled to right and stole second. A ground out to second advanced Pigrotti to third, where he scored on Dan Monroe's base hit up the middle.

Pomona got on the scoreboard in the top of the fourth for two runs.

John Souza singled to right field and stole second. With Souza going on the pitch, Mike Wooten singled to right to score Souza easily from second. Steve Taylor sacrifieced Wooten to second, where he was replaced by pinch-runner Ray Sheppard.

Sheppard went to third on a ground out and scored on an error.

The Spartans countered with two more runs in their half of the fourth. After Ardy Silvera singled, Mark Lopez batting for Vince Garcia walked. Karr then blooped a double down the right field line to score Silvera. After a ground out and a walk to load the bases, John Wieman (in relief of Mark Lambert) walked Pignotti to force home a run.

Souza and Wooten lead off the five-run sixth with singles, to put runners at first and second. Taylor layed down a bunt single, with nobody covering the plate or third, Souza kept on going to score with Wooten continuing on to third.

Bearcats clinch crown by ripping Walnut

By JIM McCONNELL
P-B Staff Writer

WALNUT — Bill Bumstead won the battle of the pitchers Tuesday, and as a result Bonita High is the 1974 baseball champion of the Hacienda League.

Bumstead hurled the Bearcats to a big 12-1 win over Walnut, which coupled with the Alta Loma loss to Royal Oak, clinched the H.L. title for Bonita.

The projected pitching duel between Bumstead and Lance Parrish of the Mustangs never materialized. Parrish was not on his game, and a porous Walnut defense kept the Mustang hurler in hot water most of the day.

After Parrish had retired the Bearcats in the top of the first, Walnut looked like it would hit the scoring column in the bottom of the frame.

Number two batter Bob Flores doubled, and Bonita decided to walk Parrish intentionally. The strategy worked well for the Bearcats, however, as Bumstead got Ken Czarnecki to pop out and Harold Drake made a nice running catch in left of Jim Vallandingham's fly to end the inning.

The spirited Bearcats came back to score in the second.

Carl Davis led off the frame with a looping single to right, and Kirk Smith was sent in as a pinch runner. Smith promptly stole second and third as Parrish fanned the next two Bearcat batters.

Scott Johnson got the run home with a sharp single to left, and from that point Bonita was never headed.

Bonita put Parrish and the game away in the fifth.

Singles by Steve Hines and Rich Ortega, a walk to Drake, and three costly Mustang errors got the Bearcats four runs and gave Bumstead a 6-0 cushion.

The sophomore righthander scattered eight hits, fanned four and walked only two in picking up his eighth league win against no losses. Walnut was able to reach Bumstead for a run in the seventh, but the Bearcat hurler's earned run average remains under one run per game for the season.

Bonita tallied six times in the sixth and seventh off Vallandingham to win going away. Ortega had two hits and three runs scored for Bonita, while Johnson drove home three runs for the 'Cats. The Bonita lineup showed its quickness as they combined for seven stolen bases.

Bonita (now 11-1 in the H.L.) will play host to Gladstone on Friday.

Poly, La Verne, APC all post wins

Cal Poly's 21st win of the baseball season has to be one of its biggest.

The Broncos built up to a 5-1 lead over nationally ranked USC then had to hold on to win 6-4 at USC Tuesday.

In other college games, La Verne swamped Caltech, 24-0, Azusa Pacific steamrollered Cal Baptist, 25-2, and Pomona-Pitzer gave Occidental nine unearned runs and dropped a 10-6 game.

John Riddle (6-2) went all the way for Cal Poly. Riddle struck out five and walked only two.

The Broncos got two home runs off Trojan pitching. Dick Parkhouse cracked one in the fourth inning with a man on to break a 1-1 tie. Dennis Rogers smashed one in the eighth inning with the bases empty.

Poly was slated to play UCLA this afternoon at 2:30 p.m.

La Verne, as expected, simply had too much muscle for Caltech. Mike Alonso had a bases-loaded double and a sacrifice fly in five at bats to knock in four runs and bring his season total to 42.

The win brought the Leopards' record to 11-2 in conference play and 23-6 overall. They remain tied with Claremont-Mudd for the lead in the SCIAC.

The only inning the Leos didn't score in was the first. They scored once in the second on a walk, an error and a wild pitch. They added four more in the fifth on four hits including a two-run single by Jesse Mendoza, a double by Art Sanchez and a triple by Wayne Redfearn. Sanchez, with four hits in five at-bats, was the top La Verne hitter.

The Leos scored 10 runs in the fifth inning. There were seven hits including Alonso's double, four walks and a wild pitch.

Rich Fielder drove in four runs in the inning with two two-run singles. Mendoza also had another two-run single.

Azusa Pacific brought its record to 25-12 overall and 15-3 in Southern Division play with its trouncing of Cal Baptist.

Chuck Van Schoych had four hits in six at-bats and raised his season average to .407. One of his hits was a two-run homer, his 10th roundtripper of the season.

Upland league holding sale

UPLAND — The Upland-American Little League Women's Auxiliary is sponsoring a rummage sale on Saturday at the Raney-Schnepp league field.

Persons wishing to help are asked to bring their rummage to the field any evening between 4 and 5 p.m. or anytime on Saturday.

Additional information is available by contacting Sharon Loggins at 985-7335 or Carol Schwartz at 982-8730.

That brings Van Schoych's RBI total to 58.

Shortstop John Tully had four hits and scored five runs.

Pomona-Pitzer committed nine errors in helping Oxy to a 10-6 win. Worst inning was the sixth when the Tigers scored six unearned runs after two were out.

Biff Sherman, the Sagehens' fine catcher, hit two home runs in another standout effort. Sherman had three hits in four at-bats, drove in four runs and scored two.

The hits, with a flock of scouts looking on, raised Sherman's season average to an astronomical .548.

Sports news in brief

THE SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA SUNS of the World Football League has obtained Tim Guy, a defensive end at the University of Oregon last year, in a trade with the Philadelphia Bell for an undisclosed draft choice. Head coach Tom Fears completed his staff by hiring assistant coaches Earl Leggett and Tom Baldwin.

TERRY SLATER, former coach of the Los Angeles Sharks, was hired Wednesday to coach the expansion Cincinnati Stingers of the World Hockey Association. The team won't play until 1975.

USC has recruited Texas basketball star Earl Evans, a 6-6, 190-pound player who scored 2,582 points in his three-year career at Lincoln High in Port Arthur, Tex. He averaged 25.1 pointsand 20.6 rebounds per game his senior year.

THE OWNERS of the Denver Rockets announced the dismissal of Alex Hannum, the coach and general manager for three years.

BILL NEEDHAM, coach of the Cleveland Crusaders, was fired Tuesday.

FRAN NAVARRO, who quit at Columbia University, Tuesday was announced as Wabash College's new football coach.

RUDY MEOLI of Covina leads the Pacific Coast League in hitting with a .426 batting average. Meoli, who was with the Angels last season, is playing shortstop at Salt Lake City, the Halos' top farm club.

When Alabama's Crimson Tide marched 97 yards to score against the University of Houston in a tough game, Houston coach Bill Yoeman was asked how he felt about it. "Actually," he said, "I would just as soon see a nine-yard drive. It's much easier on the equipment."

Lahar, Zakem no-hit CSDR, Claremont rips Garey, 8-1

Dave LaHar and Gary Zakem teamed up to no-hit California School of the Deaf of Riverside in Webb's 9-0 win to highlight Tuesday's prep action.

Lahar had five strike outs in four innings of work while Zakem fanned eight in three frames. It was Lahar's first no-hitter while Zakem threw one earlier this year.

Don Bayly went three-for-three and drove in three runs to pace the Gauls (14-5, 7-0) while Lahar chimed in with a pair of hits.

In other action Claremont ripped Garey 8-1, and Chino's Mike Coppess hurled a three-hitter and collected two hits to pace the Cowboys to a 3-0 win over Ganesha and hard-luck Paul Madrigal. Baldwin Park ripped Rowland 11-6, San Gorgonio edged Chaffey 1-0 and San Dimas nipped Ontario 7-6.

The Wolfpack bombed out 17 hits while sophomore Mil Pompa allowed just three hits to the Vikings. Todd Ervin had three hits including a two-run second inning homer, Rich Tullis and Tony Janusz each added three hits while Ken McLeod and Jerry Brown each contributed a pair of hits.

Pompa, who struck out nine, had a no-hitter until the sixth when Jerry Loftis singled.

Kevin Smith hurled three scoreless innings and drove in five runs in Baldwin Park's win over Rowland.

Don and David Pearce each had two hits for the Raiders. Both teams are 5-5 in the Montview League standings.

Chaffey High dropped its fourth straight Citrus Belt League game as San Gorgonio scored in the first inning and Nelson Swagger made it stand up, checking the Tigers on three hits.

Harley Stark and Anthony Munoz turned out to be hard-luck pitchers for the Tigers.

The two combined to halt San Gogo on one hit, a first inning double by Swagger that scored Mike Parnell who had walked.

Chaffey is 14-7 overall and 7-4 in the CBL. The Tigers trail Eisenhower by two games with three to play.

Jerry Baird walked with the bases loaded in the bottom of the seventh inning to give San Dimas a 7-6 win over Ontario.

The Saints scored five times in the sixth to tie the game 6-6 as Kent Williams singled home two runs, Jerry Levereau singled home another and a fielder's choice and an error scored the fifth tally.

Paul Willman (6-4, 4-3) pitched four scoreless innings in relief to gain credit for the win.

Knights move to San Diego

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Dennis Murphy, president of the World Hockey Association, announced Tuesday that the Jersey Knights' franchise will be shifted to San Diego for the 1974-75 season.

The club, which moved from New York to Jersey early in the 1973-74 campaign, will play its home games in the 13,000-seat Sports Arena. A five-year lease agreement was finalized Tuesday between Peter Graham, the operator of the arena, and Joe Schwartz, owner of the new local entry in the WHA.

"The WHA is very pleased and happy to go into an outstanding area like San Diego," Murphy said, "and it gives our organization good balance on the West Coast with the entry of Phoenix at the same time."

The Knights finished last in the East Division this past season although they were in playoff contention until the final week.

Erving scores 47 to dominate game

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI) — Is Julius Erving the best forward in the history of basketball?

That was the question dominating conversations in both locker rooms after the 6-foot-7 Dr. J staged a virtuoso 47-point performance to give the New York Nets an 89-85 victory over the Utah Stars Tuesday night in the opening game of their best-of-seven American Basktball Association championship series.

Elgin Baylor's name came up and so did John Havlicek, Rick Barry and Dave DeBusschere. All were or are great ballplayers capable of spectacular games and certainly among the very best.

But as far as the Stars, Nets and most of the people watching Tuesday night's game were concerned, "Dr. J" is the best ever.

"Baylor was the best for a longer time," Nets' Coach and NBA veteran Kevin Loughery said. "But Doc is a better all-around player than Baylor ever was. Doc can do everything Baylor could do on offense and more and he plays much better defense."

"If Doc's not the best, I'm in for a real treat," said Utah's Willie Wise, considered one of the better defensive forwards in the pros. "There's nobody who ever lived who can hold Doc when he's playing like that."

"I've seen him have a few other games like this," said Utah Coach Joe Mullaney "He's just the best there is. He never throws up a bad shot and when he's looking to the basket, he's just unstoppable."

Owls advance 32 spikers to Mission finals

AZUSA — Citrus College qualified 32 athletes and Chaffey advanced 16 to the finals during the Mission Conference track prelims at Citrus Tuesday afternoon.

The finals, which will also be held at Citrus, will be held at 3:30 p.m. Friday afternoon.

One conference record was broken and another tied at the prelims. Grossmont's Chris Hallman recorded the conference's quickest time in the 120 high hurdles with a victory in 14.3 seconds. Citrus' Rick Wilmoth tied a conference mark in the 100 in 9.5 seconds, but it was wind-aided.

Wilmoth also qualified for the finals with a 22.3 clocking in the 220.

Four Citrus athletes qualified for the finals in more than one event. Willie McLaurin moved into finals in the 120 high hurles (14.3 seconds), the 100 yard dash (10.0) and the 220 (22.3).

Allen Ashcraft qualified in the mile (4:32.8) and three mile (15:50.0). Browning Allen advanced in the 100 (10.0) and the 220 (22.0). Jeff Russell moved into Friday's competition in the javelin (204-3) and high jump (6-4).

Chaffey had two athletes qualify in two events each, with Tony Lewis doing it in the high jump (6-4) and triple jump (46-4), and Dave Nugent doing it in the javelin (199-1) and the high jump (6-4).

SAL track

Of course, last year was the first year that the junior varsity and frosh-soph divisions were formed, compared to the old format of "B" and "C" divisions.

Stan Webster of Garey High was the one who rewrote the frosh-soph long jump record with an unbelievable leap of 23 feet, 6 inches. Chino's Jim Love set a new record in the frosh-soph high jump at 6-0.

Owl chances dim; Mounties ice second place

Citrus College is still alive in the Mission Conference, but just barely, and Mt. San Antonio clinched second place in the South Coast Conference in junior college baseball Tuesday afternoon.

Citrus dropped an 11-9 decision to San Bernardino, dropping two full games behind second round leader San Diego, which was idle Tuesday. San Bernardino picked up a half game on the front runners and is only a game out of the lead with two games remaining. The Owls host Southwestern Thursday.

San Bernardino scored six runs in the eighth inning to nail the Owls, who have their backs to the wall now. Dave Cates and Randy Nall each homered for Citrus, and Cates also doubled and singled in five trips to the plate.

Chaffey, in the meantime, with no chance at the second round title, posted an 8-3 victory over Riverside. The Panthers can help both San Bernardino and Citrus Thursday if they beat visiting San Diego in their final Mission Conference contest before playoff action begins Monday.

Chaffey rallied for four runs in the ninth inning Tuesday to pull out the win over Riverside. Center fielder Dennis Hawkins stole two bases in the contest to tie the state record of 46 for a season. He has been thrown out only four times all year. The win gives the Panthers a 22-13 overall mark.

Co-champion with Palomar in the first round of Mission play, Chaffey must face the Comets Monday at 2:30 p.m. at Evans Park in Riverside. The winner of that game meets the second round titlist for the conference crown and a berth in the state playoffs.

MSAC, pusing its overall record for the year to 27-8, iced the runnerup spot in the South Coast Conference behind Cerritos with a 10-inning 3-2 decision over third place Santa Ana.

Sophomore first baseman Bob Mosco accounted for the winning run in the bottom of the 10th with a one-out single. He stole second and third and came home on a wild pitch.

MSAC completes the season Thursday by hosting Orange Coast in a 2:30 p.m. contest.

CHEESY POTATO LOAF

Convenient frozen potatoes take work out of the party

An intriguing platemate that will earn you extra credit hours in the kitchen while you actually were "playing hooky" and top honors from your guests is this rich, cheesey potato loaf. The secret of these deceptively easy-to-make potatoes au gratin in a new form is twofold: no-peel, no-dice frozen Southern-style hash brown potatoes and two steps in preparation.

You add the potatoes and dried parsley to a rich white sauce, zipped up with dry mustard and onions, pack the mixture into a loaf pan, and let it set overnight in the refrigerator. Next day, turn the loaf out onto a baking sheet and sprinkle it with grated cheddar cheese. Team the dish with cold ham, lamb, or roast beef, and tender asparagus for a warm-weather buffet and you'll rate an A-plus as a hostess.

Even your family will enjoy the potato loaf with, say, grillled bratwurst and a fruit salad on the patio. For extra convenience, the recipe may be doubled, and one loaf rozen after it has set.

Frozen potatoes, with their twin advantages of no waste or spoilage and much less work, are gaining in national consumption, while fresh potatoes are declining. The average American eats almost 32 pounds of frozen potatoes a year, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. Smart cooks use the frozen products freely, because they know that they are economical, a good source of Vitamins A and C, and surprisingly low in calories. These Souterhn-style frozen hash browns are just the thing for potato salads, casseroles, soups, and as themselves, pan-fried. Try them for high marks in economy, nutrition, and delectability.

CHEESEY POTATO LOAF

- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoon minced onion
- 3 tablespoons flour
- ¼ teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup milk
- 4 cups Southern-style hash brown potatoes, thawed
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- 1 cup shredded cheddar cheese

In a saucepan over medium heat melt butter and add onion and saute until tender. Blend in flour, mustard, salt and pepper and gradually add milk. Heat to boiling while stirring constantly and continue to boil and stir one minute. Stir in southern-style hash brown potatoes and parsley.

Remove saucepan from heat and pack potato mixture into a buttered 9x5-inch loaf pan. Cover loaf pan and refrigerate several hours or overnight. Remove from refrigerator and loosen loaf around the edges and turn out onto a baking sheet. Sprinkle top of loaf with cheese and bake in a preheated 375-degree oven 35-45 minutes or until lightly browned and heated through. Let set for a few minutes and then slice if desired. Makes about 6 servings.

Mushrooms a year-round treat

There is an Irish saying that advises one never to pick a mushroom that a leprechaun is using for an umbrella. You need not concern yourself with having to face this dilemma, however. The United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association assures us the delicate vegetable is generally available in markets all year round.

The French, who perhaps have always known their way around a kitchen better than anybody, were the first to record the cultivation of mushrooms. It was during the reign of Louis XIV (1638-1715), when the art of French cuisine was developing and mushrooms were much in demand.

Mushrooms are elegant, a patrician delight for parties, or everydoay meals. They give a lift to plain foods, adding succulent flavor to gravies, soups, sauces, and many casserole dishes. Try them sliced raw in salads — particularly fresh spinach salad. Sliced and sauteed a few minutes in butter or margarine, they're magnificent with steak.

Fish is daily fare for the Scandinavians

Cold, hot, pickled, fried, broiled or creamed, fish is synonymous with "favorite foods" in Scandinavia. Americans class fish as a once-every-two-week dish. Not those smart and economical-minded Danes, Swedes and Norwegians. Almost never a day goes by without a fish breakfast, lunch, dinner or snack. And why . . . fish is plentiful, and, lest we forget, nutritious and low in cholesterol.

As we cherish our favorite hamburger recipes, Scandinavian housewives collect fish dishes. Fish is prepared in hundreds of ways with a variety of spices and condiments. Brown mustard particularly is used to add that special tangy zip only it can deliver.

We adapted a simple but absolutely delicious Norwegian dish called Plutfisk. It's a casserole of fish and potatoes in a creamy sauce made heavenly with that dash of mustard. Almost any kind of fresh or frozen fish can be used; ocean perch, halibut or flounder. We've chosen cod because it's inexpensive. Here's a new budget dish guaranteed to convert your family to fish enthusiasts.

TANGY NORWEGIAN CODFISH

- ¼ cup finely chopped onions
- ¼ cup margarine or cooking oil
- ¼ cup flour
- 2 cups milk
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon dill weed, optional
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons spicy brown mustard
- 1 package (19 ounces) frozen cod fish, thawed, cubed
- 1½ cups cooked cubed potatoes
- 1½ cups soft bread crumbs
- ¼ cup margarine, melted

Saute onions in margarine; add flour, stir. Remove from heat, add milk, return to heat; stir constantly until thickened. Add salt, dill weed, lemon juice, pepper and mustard. Add fish and potatoes. Pour into a 2-quart casserole. Mix bread crumbs and butter; sprinkle on top. Bake in 350-degree oven for 30 minutes.

Serves four to six.

American dessert gets Danish touch

Since our early Colonial days, wine jelly has been considered an elegant dessert for special occasion dinners or luncheons.

This make-ahead jelly is far easier to achieve than in the days when it was a choice dessert of President Thomas Jefferson, as well as other prominent figures. In those days, gelatin was homemade from calves feet ro deer horns. — Imagine a modern homemaker doing that today.

While we have normally served whipped cream with a beautifully molded wine JELLY, OUR Danish friends have other ideas. First, they like dark sweet cherries in the jelly, for cherries are one of their famous fruits.

Secondly, their addition of world famous Danablu Cheese in the whipped cream adds a delectable, subtle flavor to the aristocratic dessert. Just try this recipe and see for yourself.

Danish Blue Cheese Whip is quickly made by first creaming crumbled blue cheese with a little cream and if desired a bit of sherry or brandy are added for an exotic flovor.

Then, whpped ceam and a few chopped walnuts are folded into this mixture for a light, delicious topping on the wine jelly or on fruits, such as canned or fesh pears and peaches.

The Danes have made Danablu for over half a century. It is a pure white cheese, with a rich pattern of blue veins and it is a most versatile cheese.

CHERRY WINE JELLY

- 3 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- ¾ cup cold water
- 1 cup cherry juice, drained from 1 can (16 ounces) pitted dark sweet cherries, reserve cherries
- 3 cups wine (red Burgundy, Madeira or Sherry)
- ½ cup sugar
- ¼ cup fresh lemon juice
- Cherries, will drained, approximately 1¼ cups (see above)

Sprinkle gelatin on cold water to soften. Bring 1 cup cherry juice and 1 cup of the wine to boiling point. Pour over gelatin, stirring to dissolve. Add remaining wine, sugar and lemon juice and stir.

In a chilled 6 cup mold add 1½ cups of wine mixture and place in refrigerator to congeal. Chill remaining mixture until it thickens.

Place well-drained, chilled cherries on top of the congealed wine jelly in the mold, lightly pressing some of the cherries into the jelly. Pour the thickened jelly mixture on top. Cover with plastic film and refrigerate overnight or about 4 hours.

When ready to serve, unmold on attractive dish. Serve with Danish Blue Cheese Whip. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

DANISH BLUE CHEESE WHIP

- 1 cup (approximately 4½ ounces) crumbled Danish Blue Cheese
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 3 tablespoons sherry or brandy
- ¼ cup chopped nuts

In mixing bowl, add crumbled cheese and moisten with ¼ cup of the cream and sherry. Cream mixture until smooth and light.

Add nuts and mix. Whip remaining ¾ cup cream until light and gently fold into Blue Cheese mixture. Garnish with a few extra nuts on top. Makes 6 to 8 servings as topping for dessert.

Practical approach cuts use of energy

Cooking a whole dinner in a pot is not only delicious and convenient, it's practical in these times of energy shortages.

With fuel in short supply, every bit of fuel saved counts. So why not conserve on energy by practicing the art of fuel-saving cookery. Fuel-saving cookery is a practical approach to food preparation that conserves energy, the techniques are familiar ones, practical common-sense approaches that are easy to add to just about any style of cooking.

For example, cutting down on cooking time is an important technique for saving fuel when you cook. One way to do this is to cut ingredients into smaller pieces, since smaller pieces of food cook faster than larger ones. Smaller volumes also cook faster, so why not roast chicken pieces rather than a whole chicken or make individual meat loaves or meat balls rather than a larger loaf.

Another way to add long-cooking flavor in a short-cooking time is with monasodium glutamate. It brings out more of the natural flavor in foods and helps restore the flavor lost from farm to you; it's that simple. Accent picks up where the cooking process leaves off to bring out the appetizing good flavors of almost every dish.

A convenient way to practice the art of fuel-saving cookery is to prepare easy one-dish meals. A one-dish meal is a natural way to conserve on fuel since it needs only one burner rather than two or three. The combinations are endless, the flavors divine.

Take Vegetable Pork Stew, for example. It's a hearty dish filled with nutritious ingredients such as pork, fresh cabbage and carrots. The pork cooks quickly because it's cut into 1-inch cubes; the cabbage cooks fast, too, because it's shredded. This avory flavored stew is seasoned with bay and thyme and just the right amount of lemony tang.

For more ideas and delicious recipes that help conserve energy when you cook, send for a handy leaflet called "Fuel-Saving Cookery." It's free when you send a stamped self-addressed envelope to Ac'cent, Suite 1100, 551 Fifth Avenue, New York, New York 10017.

And, try Vegetable Pork Stew for a tasty nourishing stew that saves fuel when you cook.

VEGETABLE PORK STEW

- 1 pound boneless pork shoulder, cut into 1-inch cubes
- 1 tablespoon salad oil
- ½ cup chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 3 carrots, pared and sliced
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 cups water
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1 bay leaf
- ½ teaspoon dried leaf thyme
- 2 cups shredded cabbage (½ medium head)

Brown meat in salad oil in Dutch oven. Add onion, garlic and carrots. Cook 5 minutes, sprinkle with flour and mix well. Stir in water and lemon juice. Add monosodium glutamate, salt, sugar, pepper, bay leaf and thyme. Cover and cook over low heat 1 hour. Add cabbage and cook 20 minutes longer. Serves four.

Environmental head says funds may be reduced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Environmental Protection Agency chief Russell E. Train says he is fighting pressure from the White House to cut back federal grants to states on forcing federal anti-pollution programs.

Train said the Office of Management and Budget has informed him that Nixon wants to phase out money earmarked for states monitoring and enforcing pollution standards.

"I think it would be a great mistake to start cutting back on funding," Train said. I think the funding for the time being should be maintained or even increased."

He was interviewed on CBS-TV's "Face the Nation."

WHAT'S IN STORE...

MAKE THAT KICK

Maybe you think it's the wrong time of the year for that caption, but we're talking about the type of "kicking" that's never out of season.

I'm sure you've often heard people complain about something that displeases them in the supermarket. I have, too. But telling only your family or friends doesn't do much good.

Most of us, by nature, are positive thinkers. We're reluctant to point out things that annoy us in shopping. We try to avoid negative situations when possible.

However, if we realize that complaining can be positive, perhaps we would be more willing to return unsatisfactory merchandise or mention an eyesore in the store.

At Alpha Beta, our "Men In Blue" welcome customer response. They need to know if products and service are satisfactory. After all, none of us is perfect. We all make mistakes. But before corrections can be made, we need to know where we can improve.

As we have often stated, all of our products are guaranteed. If you buy something that displeases you, tell your "Man In Blue." He'll give you a replacement or a refund, and try to see that it doesn't happen again.

We would like to have you feel more "possessive" about the Alpha Beta where you shop. Get acquainted with the store personnel and try to help them make YOUR store the best and most convenient place to shop.

Enchiladas prove popular with men

With a nod to women's liberation, we have learned there are many culturally instilled differences in the roles and attitudes of women and men.

Take the ambiguity of feelings exhibited by men toward French crepe dishes, on the one hand, and Mexican enchiladas on the other.

Somewhere in their dim pasts 92.3 per cent of the men in the United States have been taught that the delicate French pancakes, often made with rich fillings and creamy sauces, are strictly feminine, to be served only at luncheons for middle-aged ladies in big hats.

(Statistics based on a loosely conducted survey of frustrated homemakers who have tried serving crepes to their husbands.)

The hearty and wholesome Mexican cousins of the delicate French crepe are perfectly acceptable, however. Enchiladas have become popular with the most ardent John Wayne fans and are among the specialties of many a male weekend chef.

The significant difference lies in the tortilla, the thin, tasty corn pancake which is the basis of all enchilada recipes. Originally, they were made by hand from stone-ground corn. Today, even in Mexico, the convenience of ready-made tortillas is much preferred and appreciated.

For an authentic Mexican taste and texture, however, one must be sure to start with stone-ground corn tortillas, available frozen or refrigerated in the supermarket's freezer or dairy cases.

CHICKEN ENCHILADAS

MEXICAN TOMATO SAUCE

1 small onion, minced
1 tablespoon cooking oil
2 (7¾ ounces) cans sauce for tacos or hot tomato sauce
1 cup chicken broth
1 clove garlic, crushed
¼ teaspoon ground cumin
¼ teaspoon dried oregano leaves
½ teaspoon salt

Cook onion in oil for 3 minutes. Add remaining ingredients. Cover; simmer 30 minutes, stirring frequently.

FILLING

¼ cup seedless raisins
1¾ cups finely diced cooked chicken
¼ cup minced onion
¼ cup sliced pitted ripe olives
12 (frozen or refrigerated) stone-ground corn tortillas
Cooking oil for frying tortillas
1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

Cover raisins with warm water to plump them; drain on paper towels. Mix with chicken, onion, ripe olives and ½ cup Mexican tomato sauce. Fry tortillas, one at a time, in ½-inch medium-hot oil for a few seconds or until tortilla begins to blister and becomes limp. (Do not fry until firm or crisp). Remove with tongs and dip into heated Mexican tomato sauce. Place about 2 tablespoons filling along center of each tortilla. Roll up and arrange with seam down in ungreased shallow baking dish. Spoon remaining sauce over top. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake, uncovered, for 15 minutes in 350-degree oven.

Leaner times arrive with the new Canadian bacon

Mothers concerned with good nutrition for their families should consider Canadian bacon in their meal plans.

Nutritionally, Canadian-style bacon offers the homemaker a high quality, delicious and delectable source of protein, thiamin, potassium and calcium. It is unusually high in protein content with about 20 per cent. A typical 2½-ounce serving will supply an average adult with half of his or her daily protein requirements.

By comparison, frankfurters have only about 15 per cent protein, link sausage 20 per cent beef liver 23 per cent, and T-bone and sirloin steak about 25 per cent protein.

Canadian bacon is also extremely lean with only 9 per cent to 15 per cent fat, and 62 per cent fewer calories than an equal amount of regular bacon making it an ideal meat choice for people who worry about their weight.

"Today's product is the result of 25 to 30 years of breeding hogs leaner than their ancestors. This, coupled with modern production techniques involving computerized feeding programs, brings hogs to market that weigh less than 200 pounds and with thinner deposits of back fat on them.

Canadian bacon is processed from selected choice pork lions that are boned and trimmed of most visible fat. This long, lean loin of pork is then cured with a soft solution for its delightful taste and then smoked to give it the distinctive northwoods favor.

The smoking cycle raises the internal temperature to 152 degrees to 154 degrees and the meat is considered fully cooked by the Department of Agriculture. Canadian bacon is then rushed to market as full loins weighing six to eight pounds, random cut 1½-to 2-pound pieces, or sliced and packaged in five-or six-ounce packages.

The versatility of the product means variety at meal time with many recipes for all special occasions.

Many prefer a luncheon featuring Canadian bacon with broccoli and cheese Sauce. This recipe was the choice of more than 50 of the nation's newspaper food editors when the Canadian Bacon Council was introduced 18 months ago.

For a quick and delightfully different top-of-the-stove meal, simmer Canadian bacon in bubbly ginger ale. It's easy, requires little preparation and will surprise any jaded appetite.

BREADED CANADIAN BACON SLICES

8 thick slices of Canadian bacon
½ cup bread crumbs
1 egg (beaten)
1 tablespoon water
Butter or margarine
Applesauce

Combine beaten egg and water in small bowl. Press slices of Canadian Bacon into bread crumbs so both sides of each slice and covered. Dip breaded slices into egg mixture, then back in bread crumbs. Let stand about 20 minutes. Melt small amount of butter or margarine in frying pan. Fry bacon slices slowly in pan, turning several times until brown on both sides. Serve with applesauce. Serves 4.

CANADIAN BACON WITH BROCCOLI AND CHEESE SAUCE

12 slices Canadian bacon
Butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
½ tablespoon dry mustard
½ tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 cup (4 ounces) freshly shredded cheddar cheese
Broccoli, cooked

Saute Canadian bacon slices in butter or margarine until lightly browned. Combine 2 tablespoons melted butter, flour and milk in saucepan. Simmer over medium-low heat and stir constantly until mixture thickens. Add salt, dry mustard, Worcestershire sauce and cheese. Stir over low heat until cheese is melted. Arrange cooked broccoli and Canadian bacon slices on serving plates and pour sauce over. Serves 4.

CANADIAN BACON IN GINGER ALE

Cover Canadian bacon chunk with ginger ale in small pot. Simmer gently until tender. One quart of ginger ale will cover a 2-pound piece. Let stand with heat off, so that meat will absorb flavors. Very tasty. Serve with your favorite vegetable.

This burglar generous guy

CHICAGO (UPI) — John Daugherty is a burglar. Chicago police have charged, but apparently a generous one.

He is accused of breaking into a service station recently and pumping 102 gallons of gasoline into the car tanks of 14 of his friends before closing down for the night and driving off.

Daugherty, 21, was charged with one count of burglary.

Sandwich answer to menu problem

A hot sandwich can be the answer to many menu planning problems. It makes a perfect late-night supper or company lunch. Leftover roast or chicken? A hot sandwich makes it a tempting meal again.

For a unique flavor treat, try this delicious Curried Chicken Sandwich. The recipe includes instructions for cooking chicken breasts, but you can also use leftover poultry and canned or instant chicken broth. The zesty curry sauce, sure to spark everyone's palate, is the key to this tasty sandwich. Made with corn oil margarine, this rich sauce is low in cholesterol and saturated fat.

This delectable curried chicken is especially good over toasted whole wheat bread. Sauteed apple rings make a tasty and attractive garnish. The fruity apple flavor is a perfect complement for curry.

To round out this light sandwich-supper, serve a crisp green salad and a cool refreshing beverage.

CURRIED CHICKEN SANDWICH

2 whole chicken breasts, boned and skinned
2 sprigs parsley
1 stalk celery
1 small onion
2½ cups water
6 tablespoons corn oil margarine
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup unsifted flour
1½ teaspoons curry powder
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup skim milk
2 red apples, cored and cut crosswise into ¼-inch slices
4 slices whole wheat bread, toasted

Combine chicken breasts, parsley, celery, small onion and water in a saucepan. Cover; bring to a boil, then simmer for 45 minutes, or until chicken is tender. Cool slightly. Remove chicken; cut into thin strips; set aside. Strain and reserve 1 cup broth.

To round out this light sandwich-supper, serve a crisp green salad and a cool refreshing beverage.

Melt 4 tablespoons margarine in a saucepan. Add chopped onion and saute until tender. Blend in flour, curry powder, salt and pepper. Remove from heat and gradually stir in reserved broth and skim milk. Return to heat and bring mixture to a boil, stirring constantly. Stir in chicken and simmer for 3 minutes. Keep warm.

Melt remaining 2 tablespoons margarine over medium heat in a large skillet. Saute apple rings until golden brown on both sides.

Spoon curried chicken over toasted whole wheat bread. Garnish with sauteed apple rings. Makes 4 servings.

Attractive entree-- Baked Ham Sunburst

Baked Ham Sunburst starts with a boneless ham, which is actually a very good buy, since it's all meat and there's no waste. You partially carve the ham, cutting not quite through, and insert a sunburst of pineapple between the slices. Then top with a sunny sweet and sour glaze, seasoned with prepared yellow mustard. At the table, the carving is completed, giving each guest a pineapple sunburst along with his slice of ham.

No need for the mashed potatoes to take a back seat to the glowing ham. The simple addition of sauteed mushrooms and green onions stirred into mashed potato flakes gives them a new look and taste.

Begin your dinner with shrimp cocktail, then serve Baked Ham Sunburst, Festive Potatoes, buttered asparagus, a tossed green salad, lemon chiffon pie, champagne or rose wine, if you like, and coffee or milk.

This menu will provide your family with servings from the four basic food groups needed daily for good nutrition.

BAKED HAM SUNBURST

6 to 8-pound boneless ham
¼ cup prepared yellow mustard
¼ cup honey
¼ cup apricot or raspberry preserves
2 tablespoons brandy, if desired
1 can (20 ounces) pineapple slices, drained and cut in half

Bake ham as directed on wrapper. Combine mustard, honey, preserves, and brandy. Twenty minutes before baking is complete, slice ham, cutting only halfway through. Insert pineapple between ham slices. Spoon or brush mustard mixture over ham and pineapple. Return to oven and bake 20 minutes longer.

FESTIVE POTATOES

1 can (2 or 3 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
½ cup chopped green onions
¼ cup butter or margarine
8 serving recipe country style mashed potato flakes
½ teaspoon herb seasoning, if desired

Cook mushrooms and onions in butter for five minutes, or until tender. Prepare mashed potatoes following directions on package; stir in mushroom-onion mixture and herb seasoning. Makes 8 servings.

The consumer has a responsibility, too

Quality assurance dates (code dating), and new regulations governing milk storage temperatures are just two recently added controls the dairy industry has instituted to help bring the freshest possible products to your table. All quality controls from cow to consumer are wasted, however, if homemakers fail to follow-up with proper care after purchase.

Placing a code date on the milk or cream cartons enables retailers and milk distributors to keep a constant check on the freshness of products in the dairy case. The month and day are stamped on the top of the carton, and sale after that date is prohibited by law. Thus, the number 4-23 means that the carton can't be sold after April (4th month), 23 (date).

This doesn't mean that the milk is spoiled on or after that date. Rather, with proper care, milk should keep for at least a week after the date expires. Consumers should double-check the date before making a purchase, and try to make milk one of the last purchases on their shopping list. That way, it won't have a chance to become warm in the shopping cart.

"Temperature is probably the most important ingredient for fresher, longer lasting milk," says Fran Roberson, home economics director for the California Milk Advisory Board. "All along the way from the dairy farm to the dairy case in the food store, new regulations require that milk be chilled to below 45 degrees as an added measure to preserve freshness. New refrigeration equipment and elaborate recording thermometers costing thousands of dollars each have been installed on farms and in stores."

Milk should be stored in the coldest part of the home refrigerator, ideally where the temperature is below 40 degrees. Turning the temperature up (warmer) in the refrigerator is no way to help with the energy crisis. Many utility companies are recommending as an energy-saving measure that you don't keep the refrigerator door open too long; learn to get several things you need at the same time rather than opening the door for each one.

It is recommended that milk and cream be returned to the refrigerator promptly after use. Allowing it to sit on the kitchen counter or table and become warm will cut the length of time it will keep fresh.

Vegetables chilled make tasty salads

Combinations of cold, colorful vegetables make excellent salads. These can be served as a salad course or main dish. As an entree, a Brussels Sprouts Spring Salad makes a happy change from the usual meat, seafood or cheese dishes. Even beginning cooks can impress a boy friend, husband or relatives with a salad of Brussels sprouts, potatoes, carrots, celery and tomatoes done with a tangy marinade.

BRUSSELS SPROUTS SPRING SALAD

2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen Brussels sprouts
Water
Salt
1½ pounds new potatoes, halved
2 cups carrots, cut in julienne strips
2 cups sliced celery
½ cup salad oil
¼ cup wine vinegar
2 tablespoons minced onion
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1½ teaspoons prepared mustard
Tomato wedges or cherry tomatoes

Cook Brussels sprouts according to package directions and drain. In 1 inch boiling, salted water, cover and cook unpeeled new potatoes 15 minutes. During last 5 minutes of cooking time, add carrots and celery. Continue cooking until vegetables are fork-tender; drain. In 13 x 9-inch baking dish, arrange cooked vegetables. In small bowl, combine salad oil, vinegar, onion, salt, sugar, pepper and mustard until well combined. Pour over cooked vegetables. Cover and refrigerate at least 3 hours or overnight, stirring occasionally. To serve, drain marinade from vegetables. Arrange vegetables in serving dish with tomato wedges. Serve salad with any remaining marinade. Makes 6 servings.

First woman degrees

Mississippi College at Clinton, Miss., in 1833 became the first co-educational college in the United States to grant degrees to women.

Here is a plan for eating well on a fixed income

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eating well on a fixed income gets harder every day. But it can be done, even when the income is an average monthly social security benefit of $162.

Willetta Warberg has drawn up a 30-day survival meal plan to prove it. As described in Modern Maturity, the Warberg plan inludes desserts at both lunch and dinner and a wide rang of recipes. The magazine is a publication of the American Association of Retired Persons, Long Beach, Calif.

The Warberg recipes include Swedish meatballs in dill sauce, a pineapple-pork skillet-dinner, pot roast with onion gravy, steak, fish chowder and miniature Irish lamb stew. Many of the recipes make one serving. Others make two or more, so the extras can be frozen to serve another day. All are intended for a retiree without dependents.

The plan includes a desperation larder—a list of canned, bottled and packaged foods to be bought gradually, during regular weekly shopping trips, and set aside for use with money runs low before the next pension check arrives. The 30 days of menus and 90 meals should cost no more than one-fourth of a $162 monthly pension check, the author writes.

Lunch and dinner menus vary widely but breakfast is the same uncomplicated, nutritious and easy-to-prepare meal daily. It consists of citrus juice, cereal, milk, toast, margarine and honey, jelly or jam.

The larder is filled with small cans of vegetables, fruits and juices, meat, fish and spreads, evaporated milk and vegetable shortening. Regular size packages of bottled and packaged foods are recommended because you get more for your money that way, and the products keep well in opened containers. Peanut butter, mayonnaise, ketchup and dried beef are among these items. So are instant dry milk, dried beans, macaroni products, rice, instant mashed potatoes, pudding and dry soup mixes and bouillon cubes.

The purpose of the Warberg plan is not to save money, but to stretch it. The meals and recipes were choeen to represent the type of food a retiree has shared with his or her family through the years. All use foods that are available the year round.

There's a scalloped potato recipe planned for leftovers, which can be made into chunky potato soup for another meal. There's a meat loaf mixture to divide into three parts, with two to be frozen for later use.

One day's menu calls for lunch of tuna fish with mayonnaise in a wedged tomato, sliced, hard-cooked egg, soda crackers, milk and-or a scoop of ice cream and a slice of homemade pound cake. Dinner the same day consist of lamb stew, soda crackers, a green salad, a glass of milk, fresh fruit and cookies.

The lamb stew uses one 8-ounce shoulder chop to make a single serving. Here's how: Cut meat from bone into chunks, saving the bone. Brown the lamb and bone in 1 tablespoon of margarine in a small saucepan. Add 1 carrot, peeled and diced, 1 onion, peeled and minced, 1 bouillon cube, 1 cup of water, one-half teaspoon of salt and ⅛ teaspoon each of pepper and thyme. Cover; simmer 45 minutes. Add 1 potato, pared and cubed. Cover; simmer until potato is tender. Remove bone and thicken stew with a little flour.

Tuscany has cuisine all its own

"That's Italian!" you may say with enthusiasm after tasting a spicy entree packed with the flavor we associate with this popular cuisine. Easy so far! But is it Neopolitan, Veretian, Sicilian or Tuscan? Or is it characteristic of one of the other cities or regions?

Italian cookery is a patchwork of dozens and dozens of different regional cuisines. Each locality, with its own cultural and culinary traditions, lays claim to specific table specialties and reflects preferences for certain foods.

In Tuscany, high on the knee of the Italian boot, it's beef, beans and Chianti. Tuscans, in common with Americans, are beef fanciers. Here in the heart of Italy, this fine meat tops both restaurant and home menus. Beans in one of two of many forms and Chianti come to the table daily.

Tuscan cookery is simple and unsophisticated. Traditional preparations long have successfully resisted outside influences. The use of fresh high quality ingredients and the perfect proportioning of seasonings are secrets of creating delectable dishes.

The flavor harmony characteristic of the region is achieved with this thick beef blade steak, braised tenderly with tomatoes, onion, capers, garlic, parsley and oregano. Mushrooms are included in the savory sauce, made with the cooking liquid. Egg noodles accompany the beef and fully utilize the delectable sauce. Parmesan cheese, sprinkled over all, adds flavorsome zest to the entree.

TASTY TUSCAN STEAK AND SAUCE

- 1 beef blade steak, cut 1 inch thick
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1 clove garlic, crushed
- 1 tablespoon capers, drained
- 1 tablespoon snipped parsley
- ¼ teaspoon leaf oregano
- 1 can (4 ounces) mushrooms
- 2 tablespoons flour
- Cooked noodles
- Parmesan cheese, if desired

Combine 2 tablespoons flour, salt and pepper; dredge steak and brown in lard or drippings in large frying-pan. Pour off drippings. Add tomatoes, onion, garlic, capers, parsley and oregano; cover tightly and cook slowly 1 hour 30 minutes. Remove steak to hot platter. Drain mushrooms, reserving liquid, and add to sauce. Stir ¼ cup reserved mushroom liquid into 2 tablespoons flour and use to thicken sauce. Serve steak with sauce, cooked noodles and Parmesan cheese, if desired. 4 servings.

Gunman kills policeman

CLEVELAND (UPI) — A gunman firing at random at traffic shot and killed a Cleveland policeman Friday, touching of a manhunt by more than 200 police officers, aided by dogs, a helicopter and two airplanes during the rush hour on the city's East Side.

Patrolman William Shapiro, who celebrated his 36th birthday Friday, was killed when he was dispatched to the Baldwin Reservoir on a report a man was shooting at passing vehicles. Shapiro, a four-year veteran, was shot in the face and chest.

Plain Talk . . . about GROUND BEEF

| Type | Fat Content Objective |
|---|---|
| Ground Beef | Approximately 25% |
| Extra Lean Ground Beef | Approximately 16% |

Even with the most modern equipment and technology now available it is not possible to guarantee that every package will be at the fat content objective. Despite our best efforts, variances of up to five percentage points may well occur.

Our objective is that a pound of Ground Beef contain approximately 12.0 ounces of lean meat, and that a pound of Extra Lean Ground Beef contain approximately 13.4 ounces of lean meat. Tastes differ respecting the desired degree of leanness, and taste may well determine which type you select. The cost-conscious shopper should remember that the cost per ounce of lean meat is lower in Ground Beef than in Extra Lean Ground Beef.

Lucky ground beef - - like all meat at Lucky - - carries Lucky's Bond. Lucky Bonded means guaranteed customer satisfaction. If you are not fully satisfied, we will refund your money promptly.

FRESH CORN CASSEROLE

Fruit can stretch, enhance meat

Today's prices force many to cut down the amount of meat bought each week to a minimum.

"A little meat plus something to expand it" is now the market order. But deciding what that "something else" will be is a problem. Spaghetti, dried beans and peas, noodles are all good selections. But they do become a bit monotonous after a time. What other choices are there?

Fruit is a delicious suggestion. Fresh, frozen, canned or dried — serve it with meat, eggs, fish or poultry for a welcome change. In the Orient, Middle East and Europe fruit is a regular part of many main dishes.

An add to those who want to use fruit is "Fruits in Cooking" by Robert Ackart. It offers more than 500 fruit recipes, many combining fruits with meat and other protein foods such as fish, eggs and poultry. The book also answers the question of what to serve with meat and other familiar foods and contains a brief history of each type of fruit.

The author knows his way with food. He wrote "To Set Before a King" and "100 Menu Chicken Book," which was a Cook Book Guild selection. His recipes for fruit dishes are fresh, lively and workable. They make cooking with fruit seem sensible, tempting and economical. ("Cooking With Fruit," by Robert Ackart, published by Macmillan, $9.95.)

As an example, let's start with American Onion and Apple Pie, using six eggs for a hearty supper dish. Another recipe using five eggs is Avocado Souffle. This has a Mexican accent. Served after a clear soup, it can make a satisfying light supperdish. From the West Indies there is a Baked Omelet and Avocado, using six eggs.

Shrimp are expensive, but canned shrimp will do for the Chinese recipe for Shrimp and Banana Curry, or Shrimp and Apricots.

From the Frnech he gives us Lamb and Cherries, which uses the less-expensive shoulder of lamb. Then from American cooks comes Pork Butt with Cransberries. An excellent, relatively low-cost dinner.

The Greeks like Pork Stew and Lemon. The Italiams also like the flavor of lemon — SPazzate (bits of veal in lemon sauce), if you can afford veal!

For fish, try Poached Fish With Prune Sauce using California dried pitted prunes. A Czechoslovak recipe if for Chicken, Peach and Bulgar and uses dry peach halves.

Dried fruits such as prunes and raisins help add needed iron to the diet and many European countries import quantities of California dried fruits for their baking and main dishes. "Fruits in Cooking" supplies several recipes using dried fruits. One is Ground Lamb With Dried fruits and Lentils, a dish from the Middle East. And from Cuba comes Beef with Raisins.

This quick rundown of the recipes from the book may at least give you some appetizing ideas of the many combinations of fruit and meat used in many countries.

How to keep (food) cool in emergency

Have you ever thought about what you would do if your home freezer stopped running? If your freezer does stop running or the electricity goes off for some time, you can take special precautions to keep your food from spoiling.

Follow one of these rules, and you stand a good chance of preserving your food.

Keep the freezer closed. Open it only to take food out for transport or to add dry ice. Try to determine how long the current will be off, and how long the food will keep. The length of time food will stay frozen depends on:

— The amount of food in the freezer. A full freezer will stay cold many hours longer than a freezer only a quarter full.

— The kind of food. A freezer full of meat will not warm up as fast as a freezer of baked food.

— The temperature of the food. The colder the food, the longer it will stay frozen.

— The freezer itself. A well-insulated freezer will keep food frozen much longer than one with little insulation.

— Size of freezer. The larger the freezer, the longer the food will stay frozen.

If you have a locker plant in your area, make advance arrangements to take care of food during an emergency. When transporting the food to the plant, wrap it in plenty of newspaper and blankets, or use insulated boxes. Then rush the food to the locker plant.

Your next best alternative is to add "dry ice" to the freezer to try to retain the cold. The more dry ice you use, the longer your food will remain frozen. Invest some time on the telephone, when you have no emergency, to find out where you can buy "dry ice" should you need it.

Sometimes frozen foods are completely or partially thawed before you discover that your freezer is not running. You may safely refreeze foods that have thawed if they contain ice crystals or if they are cold — about 40 degrees F. — provided they have been held at this temperature no longer than 1 or 2 days. But remember, use refrozen foods as soon as possible after the emergency.

Always examine meat or poultry before you decide what to do with it, because it may become unsafe to eat if it starts to spoil. Get rid of the food if the color or odor of the thawed food is questionable.

Remember, be prepared for when your home freezer stops running. Don't let a power blackout wipe out your frozen foods.

Fresh corn gives dinnertime zest

Now your meals can be fresher, zestier, more varied than ever because good supplies of fresh corn are at your market. Ears of corn are fun for everyone. Enjoy them. And then try corn in a really delicious casserole made with fresh corn kernels, fresh green pepper, bacon and tomatoes.

What else will you have for dinner when this fresh corn casserole is your vegetable dish? How about London Broil with Fresh Mushroom Gravy and a mixed fresh green salad with raw spinach, lettuce, and escarole for color, texture and flavor interest. For dessert, gather from your market some of the beautiful fresh rhubarb in season now, and make a Fresh Rhubarb Cobbler, as old-fashioned as grandma's best cooking.

The United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association has some advice abolt buying fresh corn. To be good, corn must be kept cold from the time immediately after it is harvested all the way to the kitchen range. Corn that is warm to the touch should be turned down. It will almost certainly taste starchy, and the kernels will be tough.

The sugar in corn turns to starch with time and warmth, and it doesn't take long if the corn is not kept cold. If the corn has husks, they should be fresh and green, not dry and straw-colored. Keep corn cold and humid until it is used, and use it as soon as poosible after you buy it.

Serve fresh corn tonight to give the family the enjoyment of wholesome food fresh from the fields where America's farmers have been working to turn out a fine crop for you. And here's a nutrition tip. Most corn now on the market is yellow, as it should be, because it has considerable vitamin A while white corn has none.

FRESH CORN CASSEROLE

6 slices bacon
6 ears fresh corn, cut from cob (about 4 cups)
1 cup chopped fresh green pepper
½ cup chopped fresh onion
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 fresh tomatoes, peeled and sliced

In a large skillet cook bacon until lightly browned. Remove from skillet, drain on paper towels and crumble. Remove all but 2 tablespoons bacon fat from skillet. Add corn, green pepper and onion. Cook over high heat for 5 minutes. Add crumbled bacon, salt and pepper. In a 2-quart casserole alternate layers of the corn mixture and tomato slices. Bake uncovered in 350-degree oven 30 to 40 minutes, until corn is tender. Makes 6 servings.

LONDON BROIL WITH FRESH MUSHROOM GRAVY
FRESH MUSHROOM GRAVY

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
¾ pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
3 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups beef broth
1-3rd cup light cream
3 tablespoons dry white wine

In a large saucepan melt butter. Add mushrooms and cook over moderate heat 5 minutes. Sprinkle flour, salt and pepper over mushrooms; mix well. Add beef broth and cook until mixture thickens and comes to a boil, about 5 minutes. Stir in cream and wine, heat. Serve over London Broil. Makes about 2½ cups.

LONDON BROIL

2 pounds flank steak
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Sprinkle salt and pepper evenly over flank steak. Broil about 3 minutes on each side, just until rare; do not overcook. Slice thinly on the diagonal and serve with Fresh Mushroom Gravy. Makes 8 servings.

MIXED GREEN SALAD WITH LEMON DRESSING

2½ cups iceberg lettuce, torn into bite-size pieces
2½ cups fresh spinach torn into bite-size pieces
1 cup escarole, torn into bite-size pieces

In a large bowl combine salad greens. Add about 1-3rd cup Lemon Dressing; toss lightly. Makes 6 servings

LEMON DRESSING

2-3rds cup salad oil
1-3rd cup fresh lemon juice
2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley
1 clove garlic, peeled and split
1 teaspoon sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon dry mustard
⅛ teaspoon paprika

In a small bowl or jar with tight-fitting lid combine all ingredients. Beat or shake until well mixed; let stand one hour and remove garlic. Store in refrigerator. Makes 1 cup dressing.

Motorist falls asleep, killed

LA MIRADA (UPI) — A Whittier man was killed Sunday when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his van.

Sheriff's deputies said Melvin R. Greenlee, 20, was thrown from the van when it hit a curb, bounced into a power pole and then smashed against a tree.

Warning issued on pesticide storing

A warning to refrain from using the weed killer Paraquat in any manner that is in conflict with its registered label has been issued by Los Angeles County Agricultural Commissioner Ralph W. Lichty.

The warning, issued to school districts and park departments, came in the wake of the death of a Cerritos High School student who accidentally consumed Paraquat that had been illegally kept in a beverage bottle.

"Needless tragedy can be avoided by strict observance of one of the basic pesticide safety rules—always keep pesticides in the original labeled container," said Lichty.

The law, he said, requires that hazardous pesticides be stored in an inaccessible place such as a locked cabinet.

"It is illegal to transfer pesticides into another container. Even though a person thinks he will remember what the chemical is without the label, he can never be certain and there is no way to check the directions and precautions," Lichty added.

Claremonters offered use of engraving tool

CLAREMONT — Electric engraving pencils are available at no charge at the local police station, 212 W. Second St., for residents who wish to join Operation Identification.

Lt. Malcolm Corson reported that he has not received any reports of homes of people joining Operation Identification being burglarized.

Corson said that the resident signs for a pencil and engraves a number such as his driver's license on all valuable property in the house.

Residents are given two decals when they join the project. The decals are placed on the front and back doors of the home and say that the family has joined Operation Identification in which everything of value has been engraved.

Reinecke hoping to get trial out of way before primary

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke says if his perjury trial were held after the June 4 primary election it would be "asking an awful lot" of Republicans to nominate him for governor.

But in an interview, he said his lawyers have indicated "there's at least some optimism" the trial will be held in May and out of the way before election day.

Reinecke discussed the trial and campaign briefly with UPI shortly after his lawyers moved Monday for dismissal of the three perjury indictments, contending Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski had promised not to prosecute him.

In a major public opinion poll last week, Reinecke's once commanding lead over rival gubernatorial contender State Controller Houston I. Flournoy had shrunk to seven-to-six while 47 per cent of the GOP voters polled were undecided.

Reinecke said in response to a question it would be "asking an awful lot" of Republicans to nominate him if the trial were held after the election.

"The party loyal will stay with me, I'm sure," he said. "Recognizing, according to the latest poll, 47 per cent are undecided, is asking a lot of those 47 per cent."

To win, he said, "half of the undecided would have to come with me, and that's a pretty tall order. I'm sure many of them would. That's why we are going to fight so hard to ge it (the trial) before the primary."

On Friday, Reinecke's attorneys asked for and received a delay in the scheduled start of the trial May 14. U.S. District Court Judge Barrington Parker of Washington set no new date but said it "very well could be past" June 4.

The attorneys on May 13 plan to ask that the trial be moved to California and have told the judge they seek the trial delay so the change of venue motion could be appealed if Parker turned it down.

Reinecke, whose gubernatorial campaign has been dogged by the perjury investigation by Jaworski, said his attorneys told him that a resolution of the possible appeal before May 20 "may be a little bit tight" but "any day immediately following May 20, we're ready to go."

"This gives us a week to get through the appellate court and then back on the calendar for whomever will hear this thing," said Reinecke. "So, I'm just delighted with this answer."

He conceded such a timetable "requires a pretty ideal situation, but it is still within the realm of possibility." He said it depended on cooperation of the courts and "they appear to be cooperating."

Reinecke has pleaded "absolutely not guilty" to the indictments charging him with lying in 1972 testimony to the Senate Judiciary Committee regarding when he informed then Attorney General John Mitchell of a reported offer by International Telephone and Telegraph to help finance the GOP national convention then scheduled for San Diego.

State installs windmill to bring water to campground

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Partly in response to the energy crisis, the State of California has installed its first windmill.

The big fan atop the windmill's 33-foot tower started turning Friday at Folsom Lake's Goose Flat, just across from Rattle Snake Bar.

"It's a sign of the times," said Bill Curry, a Department of Navigation and Ocean Development engineer in charge of the project at the remote lake campground for boaters.

Curry said the windmill was selected as the power source for fresh campground water because of the "prohibitive cost of bringing in electricity and the daily hassle of maintaining a gasoline generator."

The $6,200 windmill, built by Wayne Drilling Co. of Newcastle, is the first of its kind at any state facility in California and is more or less an experiment. Curry said there was a great potential for windmill use for water and power at other state recreation sites.

In addition to pumping, Curry said, the Folsom windmill could be used for electrical power but won't because "we want to keep the campground simple."

Cost of living more than twice that of 1949

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Conference Board, a research group, says inflation and rising taxes have more than doubled the cost of living in the past 25 years.

Figures released during the weekend by the board showed that a family of four must now have an income of $10,750 to equal the amount of spendable money that $5,000 would have provided them in 1949.

The amount of income necessary has increased 10.4 per cent in the past year alone, the board said.

The Conference Board said it now takes $21,080 to provide the purchasing power that $10,000 had in 1949, and a family of four that had a $25,000 income 25 years ago needs $54,300 to live on the same scale now.

Young wives buy bologna

Why young wives rarely buy cottage cheese I just don't know, but the marketing boys claim such to be the case. Incidentally, those youthful ladies don't buy much waxpaper, either. Or gelatin desserts. Or laxatives. But they do buy a lot of catsup, sliced bologna, spaghetti, potato chips and hair shampoo.

Long before Egypt's pyramids were put together, lively natives inhabited what's now Illinois. Go back 8,000 years. That's when. Archaeologist Stuart Stuever of Northwestern University says he has dug up the leftovers of 15 different prehistoric communities. Not wanderers. Settlers. In researching this kind of column, you keep bumping into tales of tribes who tried and failed. It's scarey.

JOHN BOY

That lad Richard Thomas, who plays John Boy on "The Waltons," is said by some now to be television's best dancer. . .When a zoo man says, "I have two-point-one lions for sale, he means two males and one female. . .Young lady, the sacred day of the witches is Saturday, remember that. . .What, you can't name the only state in the Union with but one school district? Hawaii. . .No, I can't tell you why women are more likely than men to get pinworms.

Writes a lady subscriber in Boise: "You said my canary would start to sing if I put a mirror next to its cage. So I used my husband's shaving mirror, which magnifies greatly. Its enormous reflection terrified my little bird. It died. Please warn everybody."

MARCIANO

Q. "Didn't Rocky Marciano win all seven of his championship fights by knockouts?"

A. All but one. In 1954, he decisioned Ezzard Charles after 15 rounds. Fine fellow, Marciano. Only heavyweight champion ever to retire without losing a professional fight. Won 49.

Pollsters say one out of every five grownups take vitamin pills regularly. Some market, that.

It's commonly believed that most families who live on farms own dogs. That's wrong. The country dog is not always the dandy critter, he's thought to be. Happens too often he kills chickens, runs cows, rips sheep. Some do, some don't, sure enough. But the city dog, although more apt to pollute the pavement, is less likely to draw blood among livestock. Exactly 54 per cent of the farm families don't keep dogs.

1 license plate plan dropped

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Reagan administration has dropped its money-saving proposal to abolish front-end license plates for California vehicles.

The administration action was disclosed when the Department of Finance asked an Assembly budget subcommittee to add to the proposed state budget $400,000 that would have been saved by switching to a single license plate system.

Porter Meroney, a Finance Department aide, said the administration abandoned the single, rear-end plate idea because the legislature has declined to pass a bill authorizing the switch.

Meroney pointed to a bill by Assemblyman Mike Cullen, D-Long Beach, which was killed quietly in the Assembly Transportation Committee. The measure died for the lack of a second after Cullen tried to amend it to include the administration's single plate proposal.

The Cullen bill was opposed by law enforcement officials, who argued the current front-end plates make it easier for police to spot stolen vehicles.

Some observers said the administration may have proposed the single license plan as one device to keep the proposed $9.8 billion budget proposal beneath the magic $10 million mark, counting on the legislature to reinstate the dual plate system before the final budget reaches Gov. Ronald Reagan's desk.

Meroney said he knew of no such plan. He said the single plate system was proposed as a money-saving step to counter declining state gas revenues and the increasing cost of steel.

The only time the state ever has issued single license plates was during the Post-World War II years of 1945-46.

The doctor comments

Mumps may possibly have sterile effect

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Our daughter married a young man who had the mumps go down into his testicles as a young boy. What are the chances of him being sterile? They want a family and so far no conception has taken place. If you feel they have a problem, what steps should they take?

I do not like to see our daughter needlessly upset, but I do not know how to advise them.

DEAR READER — There is no way to tell what the problem is that prevents a couple from having a baby without a careful examination. It can be because of the woman or because of the man. The mistake that is usually made is examining the woman only.

It is true that this complication of mumps can cause a man to be sterile, without affecting his sex drive or capacity. Despite such a complication, many men are fertile.

Some couples have fertility problems because of their habits. Lubricants, for example, may kill live sperm cells and decrease the likelihood of pregnancy.

Your daughter should go see her doctor for an examination. He may want her to go to the obstetrician, and he, in turn, may wish to examine both of them or arrange for your son-in-law to have an examination. Many people with this problem can be helped.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have read dozens of articles on bust development. How about us girls who would like to reduce our busts? I'm a 40C and, frankly, find it very uncomfortable. If it helps, I'm 20. I've feet eight, and 144 pounds.

I need to lose about 10 pounds which would help some, but not as much as I would like. Corrective surgery is not possible because my doctor says my bust is not so overly large to require it. Are there any kinds of exercises that would really help reduce the bust?

DEAR READER — There are situations where large breasts really need surgical reduction. In some of these instances special medicine is then needed to prevent them from regaining their former size. Most doctors feel as your doctor does, that such operations should be reserved for women who have exaggerated enlargement of the breast.

Women do complain when their breasts are too large. The weight alone is uncomfortable and in extreme instances can cause support straps to irritate the skin.

The only exercises of use in reducing moderately enlarged breasts are those that help you lose weight. That means endurance exercises such as running, walking, tennis and other competitive sports.

For additional information on losing weight you may want to get the booklet I have prepared for readers on this subject. Send 50 cents to "Losing Weight," in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Old Shinto religion memorial stirs hot controversy in Japan

TOKYO (UPI) — "The life of the soldier is short and beautiful," says a Japanese proverb, "like a cherry blossom falling in the heart of Japan."

Warm spring winds today blow clouds of falling cherry blossoms through the grounds of Yasukuni Shrine, memorial to 2.4 million servicemen killed in Japan's wars since 1867.

A blizzard of political controversy also howls through this well-tended shrine of Japan's old Shinto religion in central Tokyo.

Although it is Japan's leading memorial to its war dead, Yasukuni Shrine now is a private church of the Shinto faith.

Supported by the government until Japan's World War II defeat in 1945, the shrine was stripped of its official status by the U.S. occupation government headed by the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The Japanese constitution of 1948 separated church and state.

In a surprise move April 18, Japan's ruling Liberal Democratic party (LDP) railroaded a bill through a parliamentary committee calling for financial support of the Yasukuni shrine by the government.

All four of Japan's opposition political parties fought the bill for several years, charging it was an entering wedge to restore Shinto to its pre-war status as an official faith.

They boycotted the parliament, refusing to attend debates or committee meetings. As a result, the legislative arm of the Japanese government now is at a standstill.

Its grounds are covered with clean gravel. Peaceful flocks of pigeons are everywhere.

Many Japanese public parks are littered with trash. But Yasukuni Shrine is treated with respect by the estimated 20,000 Japanese who visit it each day. One scans the grounds in vain for a discarded candy wrapper or cigarette butt.

For the sightseer there are two important buildings. One is the shrine's "honden" or outer sanctuary. The other is a military museum honoring war heroes of Japan's modern history.

A current special exhibit honors the late Gen. Hirobumi Yamashita, whose troops overwhelmed a British force outnumbering them three-to-one to capture Singapore early in World War II. Yamashita's overcoat is on display, along with photographs of the British officers surrendering to him.

Yamashita was hanged in Manila at the end of the war after an American court martial convicted him of responsibility for war crimes there.

Also on exhibit are photographs and last letters of Japan's "human torpedos" the "Kaiten." During the war, 139 of them died driving torpedos fitted with pilot cabins in attacks on allied ships—suicide missions.

Looking at their portraits, the visitor finds himself staring into the earnest faces of teenage boys. The "kaiten" were recruited from Japan's high schools.

Other exhibits honor the "Kamikaze" (divine wind) pilots, several thousand of whom tried to crash their planes into allied warships in the late stages of World War II.

Before the war, Shinto was described by the Japanese government as a "patriotic cult." Christians, Buddhists and other critics called it an "official religion."

It held that Japan's Government was established Feb. 11 in the year 660 B.C. by a sun goddess who decreed that her descendents should rule Japan forever. This was taught as fact in Japan's public schools until 1945.

The bill for government support of Yasukuni is strongly favored by traditionalist and conservative politicians. It has organized support from associations of veterans' families and veterans' groups.

Language in the LDP's bill says specifically that the shrine is not religious, and that no doctrine should be taught there.

But a printed notice near the Yasukuni Shrine's main gate seems to carry a different message.

"All who have made the supreme sacrifice for their country are enshrined here," the sign reads. "The rites observed in the sanctuary are to console their spirits. Yasukuni Shrine is regarded with great respect and reverence by all the people.

"Its buildings and precincts are sacred."

Editorial we is (are) dull

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

One of the absurdities that make American journalism a by-word throughout the nation (fill in your own by-word) is the columnists use of the 'editorial we.'

When an editorial writer speaks for his newspaper or expresses an opinion believed to be popularly held in the community, the 'we' is quite all right. 'We are supporting the Old Horse Retirement Fund' or 'We are hoping for a better business climate' — junk like that.

It is purely asinine, however, when the archaic device is employed by newspaper columnists — the medical panjandrums, heart-throb counselors, political pundits, sports writers, 'humorists,' et al.

One columnist wrote recently, "We were holding our head in our hands when our wife came home." (He should have said 'our heads.')

The first-person plural was used by old-time monarchs in alluding to themselves: "We now declare war on the Kingdom of Razmatazzia," or "Give us a hand with our royal suspenders."

It is this suggestion of sovereignty, I think, that fascinates columnists who still say "We" for "I." Why? After all, we (his readers) do not have a remedy for arthritis; we do not recommend that the man forgive his wife; we did not run into Zsa Zsa Gabor at the Brown Derby the other day, and we didn't see the hockey game at the Forum last night.

We (my wife and I) played bridge recently with one of our (America's) leading columnists, and the confusion of journalistic double-talk would have confounded a genius. And in fact we (I) were (was) confused.

"How are you Jonesy?" I asked at the door.

"We're fine," he said. "Come on in."

"You mean Sally's fine, too?"

"No, as a matter of fact, our wife has a bad cold."

"Our wife?" I asked, straightening my tie. "You mean —"

"We left our drink in the kitchen," he said. "We'll be right back."

My wife whispered, "Our drink? Does that mean he and Sally are sharing it? What about her cold?"

"Maybe he means it's all our drink," I said. "Maybe it's a punch bowl."

They (Jonesy) returned then with one drink in their hand.

And so it went through a long evening of bridge.

"Is it our bid?" he would ask.

"Your bid, not hers," I would say.

"We double," he would say.

"We do?" we would say.

Happily They (we) beat We (them) by 2,600 points, a lucrative triumph for I—er, for we—uh, for my wife and her husband.

Tennis plunge is disastrous

By ERMA BOMBECK

As a new tennis player, I feel like Belle Watling (the madam in "Gone With The Wind") who tried to buy respectability by giving money to the hospital.

It's an uphill battle for beginning tennis players to break through the barriers of snobbery and elitism to play a game that for years has been dominated by rich kids with weak chins and straight, white teeth.

During the last decade, I can never remember seeing a picture of a Rockefeller coming out of a bowling alley with his gym bag or a Kennedy tinkering with his engine just before a stock car race. On the coldest day in the Midwest, I could always pick up my newspaper and see one of them with a white sweater knotted around his neck and shading his eyes from the blazing sun.

The question is, can a woman plagued by varicose veins who learned last week that you have to take the tennis racket out of the press before you play find happiness with a tennis person who was attached to his mother by an umbilical sweatband?

On the court last week I encountered a member of the First Family of tennis who appraised me coolly.

"I only wear white on the courts," I said defensively, "After all, it is a professional sport and . . ."

"White is tacky," he sniffed. "Everyone, but everyone who plays tennis these days dresses in colors. Tell me, who is your pro?"

"I've been getting a little help with my strokes from Leroy Ace."

He frowned. "I don't believe I've heard of him. What club?"

"The Boys Club. But he moonlights from his garage."

"How well do you play?" he asked before going to the other side of the net.

"I had tennis elbow twice in one week," I said proudly.

"That only means something is wrong with your stroke. You need help. Do you prefer string or gut?"

"I'll play with anybody," I shrugged.

"Would you like to warm up?" he hestitated.

"Sure." I popped a ball over the fence. "Would you believe I've only been playing for two days?"

"That long," he said tiredly.

"What about you?" I asked.

"I played in the good old days," he said slowly, "before they opened the courts to Democrats."

53 per cent believe that there is a devil

NEW YORK (UPI) — Most Americans believe there is a devil, but a minority believe people can be possessed by Satan or demons, according to a Louis Harris poll released Monday.

The poll showed 53 per cent of those polled believe in the existence of the devil, and 26 per cent think someone actually can be possessed body and mind by a demon or the devil.

Fifty-two percent of those interviewed said they did not believe in demonism —the physical and mental possession by the devil or a demon —but 3 per cent of those who were interviewed said they themselves or someone close to them at one time actually had been possessed.

The survey was made in view of the popularity of the motion picture "The Exorcist." It included 1,495 households, and all persons questioned were 18 or older.

Shell increases wholesale price

HOUSTON (UPI) — Shell Oil Co., raised its wholesale price of gasoline to dealers, jobbers and commercial accounts 4.5 cents a gallon.

Shell said the increase was necessary to recover higher costs of raw materials and finished products. Under Federal Energy Office pricing regulations, there is a one month lag in recovering costs and Shell said the added costs of April purchases could not be recovered until now.

Shell rolled back prices in March and April by a total of 2.3 cents a gallon.

For Thursday, May 2

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This is not a good time to be negligent in matters relating to your health. Be sensible and moderate in all things.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You'll be overly sensitive today regarding what you wil interpret as a slight from one you care for. Don't make too much of it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you spend unnecessarily on household luxury items at this time, you'll later be bugged when the bills come in.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're likely to become a bit moody when something you're planning on doesn't work out as well as you'd hoped it would. Shrug it off.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Continue to be as prudent as possible in all financial dealings. You're apt to come out on the short end otherwise.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You'll have little tolerance and patience today for certain individuals involved in your affairs. You know who they are. So steer clear of them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't count on others to do you favors and you won't be disappointed. Stand on your own feet. Be your own person.

FORTUNE KOOKIES

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) There is a complication developing with a friend over a viewpoint. It's not the day to try to convince one another who is right.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24-Dec. 21) Someone is a little peeved at you because she feels you are hiding something from her that she should know about. What have you been up to lately?

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You tend to view coming events rather dismally today. Nothing is worth worrying about before it happens. Besides, things may work out better than you think.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you have anything that you borrowed from another and it's overdue it would be a good idea to get in touch with them and let them know when it will be returned.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) An important one-to-one relationship requires delicate handling today. The person you're dealing with is a trifle edgy.

Burglars break into home of congresswoman

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Burglars pried open the front door of the home here of Rep. Yvonne Brathwaite Burke, D-Calif., and stole $16,000 worth of property, the sheriff's department reported Tuesday.

The thieves took a mink stole worth $10,000, three guns, three color television sets and a small home television camera, deputies said.

The Burkes were in Washington and were notified of the burglary by telephone.

Deputies said the theft was discovered by an unidentified employe of the congresswoman's husband, who stayed in the home on occasion.

The home is located in county territory near Culver City.

Fetus find probed for illegal abortions

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Coroners office is investigating the possiblity that some of the 63 human fetuses found near a hospital incinerator last week are evidence of abortions carried out illegally late in a pregnancy.

California law limits abortions to the first 20 weeks of pregnancy.

Dr. Richard Pihl, deputy medical examiner, said Monday that preliminary investigation indicated 15 fetuses were older than 20 weeks, and that "further scientific studies are to be conducted to more accurately determine the gestation age."

If necessary, an inquest will be held May 30, and the sheriff's department or district attorney's office will investigate, said Deputy Assistant Coroner Ralph Bailey.

The fetuses were found near the incinerator of Pioneer Hospital in Artesia. A hospital worker noticed them because the hospital does only about two medical abortions a month.

Accepting responsibility in community

Gang members take a look at business world

By PATRICIA KOZA

DETROIT (UPI) — Members of two rival street gangs who used to terrorize Detroit's East Side were trying today to learn how to become independent businessmen.

Twenty members each of the "Bishop's" and the "Chains," along with five adult supervisors, boarded a bus Monday wearing jackets and ties to take a look at some black-owned businesses in Chicago.

The gangs decided to stop their rivalry following a police crackdown last year.

They began working with two community action group leaders and set up community patrols to escort elementary school children as a way to prove they could accept responsibility in the community. Then they asked for help in finding a means of legitimate income.

"They kept saying the main reason they were on the streets was because they had no jobs," said Bernard Parker, leader of one community action group called Operation Get Down.

The Chains, the former gang Parker is working with, wants to investigate getting a franchise for a McDonald's restaurant.

The Bishops and Chains have set up tours of a black publishing company and other black-owned businesses in Chicago for ideas they can take back to Detroit. Both groups have also set up a meeting with members of Chicago's largest and most notorious street gangs, the Black P Stone Nation, in hopes the program will spread.

Gangs have a good chance of making it too, according to Bill Pickard, assistant professor of social work at Wayne State University, who is a consultant with the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare on street gangs.

"Gang members have a high degree of natural success orientation," he said.

The Chains and Bishops each have about 75 active members. They eventually hope to set up a corporation with adult sponsors to administer whatever business they finally decide on.

A number of Detroit black businessmen's associations, including the Inner City Business Improvement Forum, have agreed to give some financial support.

"We don't expect any overnight miracles," Pickard said. "Those in Chicago are basically success symbols. You can't expect to open a fast foods restaurant in a month."

Count to nine before losing

By Oswald & James Jacoby

"Well," said North philosophically, "If you are going to overbid you should learn to play the cards better."

"What could I do?" asked South.

"Practice counting to nine," replied North.

South's three notrump was really an overbid. If he had just bid two notrump North would have taken him on to game. After all you don't need much of a hand to reopen when the bidding has died at one heart.

Now let's see what North meant by South being unable to count to nine.

If you win nine tricks at a three notrump contract the sun shines and everyone is happy. At least you and your partner are.

East held back his king of hearts at trick one and dummy's queen won the trick.

East's play was unusual but mighty good. It gave South a chance to go wrong and South did.

South would have been sure of his contract if he had just put his ace of hearts on dummy's queen. His next play would be to overtake his king of clubs with dummy's ace. He would continue to play clubs until East's queen was forced out. Later on he would get to dummy with the jack or 10 of hearts to wind up with two spades, two hearts, five clubs and the rubber.

Relationship needs trust

By JEAN ADAMS

SUSPICION : (Q.) Everything between Lance and me was great until my best friend Peggy broke up with Ken. Now for nearly three weeks Lance and Peggy have been writing notes to each other.

Lance and I still date and he says he likes Peggy only as a friend but what am I supposed to think when they write notes all the time?

I need help — 17 and Sick in Texas

(A.) Suspicion can make a person sick. So can fear. You are giving in to both. Take Lance's word about his wanting to date you as the truth as long as his actions agree with what he says.

Do not make a big thing of Lance's and Peggy's friendship. To do so may be to push them closer together.

IN CASE: (Q.) My best friend has told me in strictest confidence that if the boy she loves doesn't want to marry her when they get older, then she will commit suicide. She says if she can't have him she doesn't want to live.

What can I do to help her, or should I just keep quiet and hope that she will change her mind? — Worried in Florida.

(A.) I would just keep quiet. Your friend is unnecessarily borrowing trouble, and for you to make an issue of it would give it added and undeserved importance. Most of us, when we find ourselves in real trouble, discover that we have the strength and adaptability to face up to it.

PASSENGER CAR TIRE GUARANTEE

Montgomery Ward guarantees each of its passenger car tires for a specified number of miles when used on passenger cars or station wagons, except taxis. If your tire does not give you this mileage because of:

- defects in material or workmanship,
- normal road hazard failure,
- premature tread wearout (2/32 inches or less remaining);

Montgomery Ward will:

1. During the first 10% of guaranteed mileage, replace the tire free.
2. During the remaining guaranteed mileage, replace it for a prorata charge based on mileage used.

Nail punctures repaired free during the entire guaranteed mileage.

For guarantee service and adjustments, return tire to any Montgomery Ward branch with the Guarantee Booklet issued at the time of sale.

Charge after first 10% of guaranteed mileage based on selling price in effect at the time of return at branch to which returned, including federal excise tax.

Passenger tires used on taxicabs, and motor vehicles other than passenger cars are guaranteed on the same basis against defects in materials and workmanship only.

Proper tire and suspension system maintenance are vital to obtaining maximum tire mileage. Montgomery Ward will therefore rotate your tires and inspect your suspension system free of charge every 5,000 miles, for the entire guaranteed mileage, at any of its retail or catalog branches having tire installation facilities. Wheel alignment and balance service available, at regular charge.
